U. S. Opposes Red Plan For June Session

Soviet Proposals On Summit Parley Bring Objections

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today Russia's proposal for a pre-summit foreign ministers' meeting is unacceptable on terms the Russians laid down.

Dulles told a news conference the United States is in favor of a summit meeting and wants preparations for it that will lead to substantial achievements for peace.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials today described as far too early the June date suggested by the Soviet Union for a meeting of heads of government. They had other objections too to the latest Soviet proposals.

The proposals, made public yesterday, called for:

1. A foreign ministers meeting in April to pave the way for a summit conference in June. The foreign ministers would pick agenda, time, place and participants but would keep hands off the issues causing world tension.

2. Equal representation at the summit conference, half from each side of the Iron Curtain rather than the traditional post-war lineup of the United States, Russia, Britain and France.

3. No discussion of German reunification, the major East-West sore point.

U.S. officials said the Soviet still insisted on a headlong rush, as these officials saw it, into a summit conference on Communist terms.

The Western Big Three contend this is the wrong way to try to foster peace. Against the three basic Soviet points, they counterbalanced these:

1. The argument that a summit conference is a good thing only if it follows careful preparation guaranteeing some hope of success, and avoids raising false hopes which might be dashed by grim reality. Thus, diplomatic talks must come first, to be followed about June by a foreign ministers meeting and, if all goes well, a summit conference in September or October. But there definitely should be no advance agreement, as demanded by the Soviet Union, on a date for a summit conference even before a foreign ministers meeting is held.

2. Continuation of a Big Four summit framework—United States, Russia, Britain and France—rather than switching to a 50-50 division.

3. Inclusion of German reunification as a summit topic.

Secretary, 22, Found Locked In Her Car's Trunk

DOTHAN, Ala. (AP)—A 22-year-old secretary, missing two days, was found locked in the trunk of her automobile. Officers today are looking for a Ft. Rucker soldier, Sheriff Alvin D. Davis Jr. said, a warrant charging kidnapping and assault with intent to murder has been sworn out against the soldier. He refused to release the soldier's name.

Eunice Clements was rather weak but otherwise uninjured when she was found Sunday by R. L. Harrell, who lives near the place where the car had been parked.

With Easter In Offing Major Walkout Set For Dress Industry

NEW YORK (AP)—The International Ladies Garment Workers Union has ordered 105,000 workers in seven Eastern states to strike the dress industry tomorrow morning.

This would be the first major walkout in the billion-dollar-a-year industry in 25 years.

The strike order, issued last night from the ILGWU's Dress Joint Board, followed fruitless efforts by City Labor Commissioner Harold A. Felix to mediate a contract dispute.

The industry's pre-Easter dress production is threatened. However, David Dubinsky, president of the ILGWU, and Julius Hochman, general manager of the joint board, expressed hope that the situation would be brief.

Many manufacturers are counting on the Easter season to hold down their losses in this recession year.

Contract negotiations came to a halt Saturday with the union demanding a 15 per cent wage increase, a 35-hour week for piece workers and other improvements.

Representatives of five employer groups offered a 5 per cent package increase.

The present wages in New York average $2.10 an hour. In Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and upstate New York, the average is lower.

Affected by the strike would be 57,000 workers in this city and 48,000 elsewhere. About 80 per cent are women.

Negro Minister Named As Leader By Church Group

NEW YORK (AP)—A Negro pastor was elected last night as moderator of the presbytery of New York, the first of his race to hold the position. He will serve for one year.

The Rev. Eder G. Hawkins of St. Augustine Presbyterian Church in the Bronx was elected at the regular monthly meeting of the presbytery. It is the governing body for the 65 Presbyterian churches in Manhattan, the Bronx and Staten Island, with a total membership of 29,000.

The 50-year-old pastor is former president of the Bronx division of the Protestant Council.

Leaders In Congress Approve Ike's Disability Arrangement

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders voiced approval today of White House arrangements by which Vice President Nixon would take over as acting chief executive if President Eisenhower becomes disabled.

But differences of opinion cropped out over whether the Eisenhower-Nixon agreement announced yesterday would give Nixon sufficient constitutional authority to act and whether Eisenhower legally could reclaim his office.

There also were demands that Congress act quickly toward clearing up the question about

Lawyer Raps Mundt On 'Murder' Charge

Baker Hits Probers On 'Influence'

Head Of Airlines Denies Any Deals Over TV License

WASHINGTON (INS)—The president of National Airlines accused House investigators today of trying to "put around my neck" influence peddling for which he was not responsible.

George T. Baker said the committee could not "hang" him for the activities of Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack and Mack's friend, Attorney Thurman A. Whiteside.

The airlines executive said he did not know that Whiteside was contacting Mack on his behalf in a Miami TV license award and asserted: "We don't operate under the table."

Mack Voted For National Mack, who resigned yesterday under threat of impeachment, testified Whiteside had called him on behalf of National's application for Channel 10 in Miami. Mack later voted for National, which got the license.

Baker testified that he once tried to hire Whiteside to handle National's application but Whiteside refused. He said if Whiteside did anything for National after that, he knew nothing of it.

Chairman Oren Harris (D) Ark., of the Legislative Oversight Subcommittee, accused Baker of withholding the real reason he tried to hire Whiteside, although Baker admitted frankly it was because the lawyer was a friend of Mack's.

Baker glared at the committee and said: "I don't want it inferred that we did anything wrong. We didn't."

Harris pointed out that both National and one of the losing applicants, A. Frank Katzentine of Miami, have said they did not attempt to exert any influence on the FCC until they heard numerous reports the other side was doing so.

"Both Can't Be Right" Harris pointed out that "obviously you can't both be right."

Baker replied that he had provided Katzentine was exerting pressure by letters submitted to the committee involving several senators. He said Katzentine had no such proof.

Before the committee began questioning Baker, Republican and Democratic members got into a dispute over inviting senators to appear to tell what they know of efforts to sway the FCC. The senators most prominently mentioned have been Democrats, particularly Sen. Estes Kefauver (D) Tenn.

Rep. Charles A. Wolverton (R) N. J., asked the chairman if Kefauver was to be "let off" with just the letter he submitted two days ago explaining why he contacted FCC commissioners.

Two-Car Mishap Brings Multiple Detroit Crackup

DETROIT (AP)—Almost everybody got into the act after two cars collided on Lodge Expressway in Detroit last night.

Some drivers couldn't stop fast enough to avoid a collision. Others, across the center section and going the other way, were busy gawking at the wreckage and got their own pileup started.

By the time passers-by were through running into each other, about 50 cars were dented, scratched or bumped, police said. Traffic was tied up 90 minutes. There were no serious injuries.

Blasts Follow Santa Fe Wreck

SHATTUCK, Okla. (AP)—A spectacular series of explosions and fire rocked this western Oklahoma town at 2:10 a. m. today after a 142-car Santa Fe freight train derailed.

No one was killed and no major injuries were reported, officers said.

The freight was en route to Borger, Tex., from Waynoka, Okla., carrying naphtha, rubber, carbon black, and liquefied petroleum gas.

Rome Papers Urge Vatican To Moderate

ROME (AP)—Leading Italian newspapers warned the Roman Catholic Church today to moderate its anger at the conviction of a bishop by an Italian court.

The case has snowballed into what looks like the gravest clash between church and state in Italy since the Lateran pacts were signed 29 years ago.

Catholic Italy was shocked when Pope Pius XII canceled ceremonies celebrating the March 12 anniversary of his coronation "in bitterness, sadness and outrage."

The Vatican indicated that automatic excommunication has been incurred by those mainly responsible for conviction of Bishop Pietro Fiorelli of Prato on charges of defaming a grocer and his wife who were married in a civil ceremony.

Rome's independent Il Tempo in a front-page editorial said the Florence court verdict was "simply on one case and according to Italian law." The independent Messaggero said the "sorrow of the church over the case of Prato was comprehensible, but excessive reaction such as the mourning tolling of bells is not opportune."

Such action Messaggero said, would only give fuel to "Communist claims that the Italian magistracy is not independent."

The Pope's cancellation of his anniversary celebration underlined the contention that the Italian courts have no right to bring to trial a bishop for actions which the church considers to have been taken within the framework of its divine rights.

Auto Workers Win Dispute

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers have won their fight with Chrysler Corp. for a 40-hour work week for high-seniority auto workers and layoffs with unemployment benefits for the rest.

With Chrysler employment currently down from 108,000 at this time last year to somewhere around 80,000, the union argues that a full work week for some and unemployment compensation for the others is a better deal than a short work week for all.

Chrysler's decision to go along with the union was made in a top-level meeting between Chrysler President L. L. Colbert and Walter Reuther, president of the UAW.

Prelate Stoned In British City

LIVERPOOL, England (AP)—The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Liverpool was stoned last night by a crowd while visiting a sick prisoner in a Protestant district.

The 53-year-old archbishop, the Very Rev. John C. Heenan, was not injured.

A police spokesman said the incident occurred "near the boundary line which divides the city's Catholic and Protestant communities."

Driver Finds Error, Costly

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A trucker delivered 200 gallons of fuel oil yesterday to a house with a gas furnace. The oil ignited causing $12,500 damage.

The trucker connected the delivery hose to an intake pipe that had been left intact after the home was converted to gas heat. The oil tank had been removed.

Jet Airman's Widow Ends Life In Auto

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP)—A beautiful 34-year-old widow, who made daily visits to the grave of her jet pilot husband, was found dead today in her fume-filled car.

A motorist found the body of Mrs. Frances Ann Sykes in the car, parked in front of the tourist home where she had been living. Police, terming it a suicide, said a hose ran from the exhaust through a rear window opening, stuffed with a blanket. The motor was still running.

Mrs. Sykes came here last August from her home in Akron, Ohio, apparently to be near Arlington National Cemetery. Her husband, Maj. Edmund Perry Sykes, is buried there. An Air Force spokesman said Sykes was killed in a crash at Osan Air Force Base, Korea, last June 18.

Mrs. Sykes Swisher, associated with the tourist inn, said the despondent widow placed flowers on the grave every day. She reported that Mrs. Sykes, who had been staying at the inn with her pet cocker spaniel, went out about 12:30 a. m. and did not return.

Ribicoff Seeks Aid For Jobless

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Gov. Abraham Ribicoff today called on the Connecticut Legislature to act immediately to solve what he termed the developing and grave unemployment problem.

In an address prepared for a special session of the General Assembly, the Democratic governor renewed his call for a 410 million dollar construction program and more liberal unemployment compensation laws.

Dope Addicts Aided By New Treatment

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A Hollywood psychiatrist says a treatment for dope addicts that eliminates the agonies of withdrawal has been tested here with encouraging results.

Dr. Stuart C. Knox told an in-depth interview last night the therapy bypasses narcotics entirely in favor of injections of two enzymes—ethylene disulphonate and adenosine triphosphate.

He said these enzymes are not new and are, in fact, rather commonly known. But he said he believes they have not been used together previously in this type of work.

An enzyme is a substance which expedites certain chemical processes within the body.

The injections relieved withdrawal symptoms such as cramps, nausea and sniffling as effectively as a dose of the narcotic previously used, Dr. Knox said.

He said the group studied at Braewood Sanitarium here included more than 100 persons of both sexes, ranging in age from 17 to 45. Some of them had been on drugs as long as 20 years.

"Unless the patients were terribly malnourished before treatment started, they got none of the usual withdrawal symptoms," Dr. Knox reported.

Solon Given Angry Blast By Attorney

UAW Picket Blamed In Death Of Worker At Kohler Co. Plant

By ROBERT E. THOMPSON

WASHINGTON (INS)—United Automobile Workers Attorney Joseph L. Rauh accused Sen. Karl Mundt (R) S. D., today of a "shocking distortion" for insinuating a non-striking Kohler worker was "murdered" by a union picket.

Rauh made his charge during Mundt's questioning of UAW International Representative Robert Burkart, of Detroit, in the Senate Rackets Committee's probe of the 45-month Kohler strike at Sheboygan, Wis.

Mundt linked the death in October, 1954, of William Bersch, 65, a non-striker, directly to a beating allegedly administered three and one-half months earlier by John Gunaca, a UAW picket from Detroit.

Bersch's neck was broken in a July 4, 1954, fight allegedly involving Gunaca and two other strikers.

Rauh angrily interrupted the proceedings to declare that Mundt's statement showed "evidence of bias" and was "a simple effort to distort the facts."

The attorney, former chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, said Bersch's death certificate shows the Kohler employee died of a heart attack and not as a result of the battle.

Rauh objected also to the matter being brought up during the questioning of Burkart, whom he described as "a peace-loving man."

Mundt suggested that Burkart, a union official sent from Detroit to help run the Kohler strike, may have incited unionists to violence with inflammatory speeches in which he referred to non-strikers as "germs."

The South Dakotan assured the committee he was making no accusation against Burkart.

"Not In Official Sense" He insinuated, however, that Gunaca was guilty of murder, although not "murder in the official sense," Mundt said. "We are talking about a man who was feloniously assaulted and died."

Gunaca, an employee of the Briggs Company in Detroit, is wanted in Wisconsin on a charge of assault but Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams has refused to extradite him.

It was learned that District of Columbia police may be holding an extradition warrant for Gunaca should he show up to testify at the current probe.

David J. Weber, Sheboygan County district attorney, said he was "not at liberty" to discuss the matter, but would not deny the report that extradition proceedings await Gunaca in Washington.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy would not state whether Gunaca has been subpoenaed but union officials claimed he has been.

East Enjoys Mild Period

By The Associated Press

There were a few wet spots, but generally dry weather prevailed in most of the country today. Temperature changes were minor, with seasonal readings in most areas.

Light snow or flurries continued in the Great Lakes region and eastward to the Eastern Seaboard, with rain near the coast. The snow was expected to end in the Lakes region during the day but continue in New England.

West of the Great Lakes, scattered snow showers were reported in the Rockies.

House Group Asks D. C. Bridge Projects Speeded

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House District Committee voted yesterday to urge District of Columbia commissioners to move ahead quickly on construction of two controversial Constitution avenue bridges.

At the same time the committee tabled a resolution by Rep. Saylor (R-Pa.) seeking a delay in bridge construction until action can be taken on a measure to substitute a tunnel under the Potomac River.

GIs Will Face Charges In Cruelty To ROK Boy

SEOUL—A U. S. Army spokesman said today charges would be filed soon against three American soldiers accused of mistreating a Korean boy and nailing him in a box after they caught him stealing.

The spokesman said, meanwhile, the three are not under arrest or restricted in any way pending completion of a provost marshal's investigation to determine what the charges will be.

The Korean government marked time after filing a strong protest with the American Embassy in Seoul. The army said it was in the absence of a status of forces agreement under which Korea might claim jurisdiction in the case.

South Korea has been demanding such an agreement for months. But government and police officials took a cautious position in the case of 14-year-old Kim Choon Il while at the same time expressing grave concern.

Responsible officials said privately they feared the incident would provide the Communists with another propaganda issue.

The boy is now in an American-supported orphanage.

The Army said men to be charged are Maj. Thomas E. James, Plymouth, Pa.; Capt. Marvin E. Kemp, Kilmichael, Miss.; and M.Sgt. Robert E. Weidensaul, Pottstown, Pa.

Bomb Scare For Airline Stirrs Probe

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A hoax bomb scare that started with a hurried telephone call to the Delta Airlines office here quickly spread to three states and three airlines last night.

The FBI said the caller, apparently a teen-age youth, called Delta saying a bomb was aboard a plane and set to go off at 9:30 p.m. or an hour later.

Two Delta planes were searched at Cincinnati and when nothing was found, officials decided to forego further checking here.

But at Lexington, Ky., and Charleston, W. Va., two Piedmont Airlines planes that had taken off from Cincinnati were intercepted. The passengers and crews were hustled off and the planes were searched without turning up anything unusual.

Another plane, a Trans World Airline flight that had headed north from Cincinnati, was searched at Columbus, Ohio.

Cigaret, Drink Tax Gains Noted

CHARLESTON (AP) — A report showed today that state net soft drinks and cigarette tax collections through the first eight months of this fiscal year continued to run ahead of those for the same portion of the preceding 12 months.

Net soft drinks tax collections of $2,302,606 for last July through February were up 8.65 per cent as compared to a year ago.

Net cigarette tax collections for the same period were $6,180,623, an increase of 4.68 per cent over the same 1956-57 period.

Texas GOP Leader Lauded In Raising $100,000 Fund

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Republican leaders decided yesterday their national committeeman, Jack Porter, did no wrong when he raised $100,000 by throwing a testimonial dinner for Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts.

Porter solicited financial support for the affair by suggesting it was a good way to show appreciation of Martin's friendly attitude toward the controversial natural gas bill pending in Congress.

When this came out, the Republican National Committee announced it would have no part of the $100,000. The White House concurred.

The Texas Republican Executive Committee discussed the furor at a two-hour secret meeting yesterday and published a resolution which said the national committee had been hasty and ill advised. It also decided to keep the $100,000 in Texas.

The resolution said Porter always has been moral and ethical. It said the dinner for Martin was a legitimate and well-established fund-raising approach for which no apology is needed. It said any thought the $100,000 was intended to influence or buy support of any legislation is fantastic, ridiculous and utterly untrue.

Washington, D. C., leads the world in number of telephones per capita, with 64 telephones for every 100 persons.

Shah Likely To Shun Act For Divorce

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A court source indicated today the Shah of Iran may not divorce Empress Soraya even though she has not given him an heir.

"A divorce is still not certain" and may depend on the results of negotiations, the source said, apparently referring to talk of the Shah naming a crown prince.

Soraya was believed to have realized that Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi had given up hope of her becoming a mother and decided to appoint his younger half-brother as crown prince. The Shah divorced his first wife for failure to bear a son and married Soraya in 1951.

The 38-year-old Shah has been reported conferring with a group of Iranian elder statesmen on his coronation and appointment of Prince Gholam Reza as crown prince.

The Shah has not been crowned since he succeeded to the throne in 1941 because by the Iranian constitution only a son can be named crown prince and that must be done immediately after coronation. A way to change the constitution is now apparently being sought.

The decision on naming a crown prince is believed closely tied to a decision on divorcing Soraya.

burst against Mundt by stating he hopes the committee will resolve the controversy later.

McClellan said he was "not prepared to say" whether Berschied of the beating administered by Gunaca or from natural causes.

Rauh argued that Mundt has his facts mixed up. He said no deaths occurred during the 1934 strike but in "1934 when the Kohler Co. shot down the workers."

Burkhart said no one was hurt in the 1934 picket line.

Senate rackets investigators called 15 victims to testify today about the tangle of violence surrounding the 47-month-old United Auto Workers-Kohler strike.

Committee Chief Counsel Kennedy told newsmen that the witnesses would include those who suffered damage to homes and property as a result of "violence on both sides" of the bitter Sheboygan, Wis., dispute.

Their testimony was to follow the recall of UAW International Organizer Burkhart to face questioning by Sen. Mundt about radio broadcasts he made during the strike.

Mundt questioned Burkhart's testimony yesterday that he did his utmost to quell violence by unionists through numerous press statements and 20 radio programs urging restraint.

Nixon Seriously Studies Trip To Soviet This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon is seriously considering a visit to the Soviet Union in September, perhaps in exchange for a trip to the United States by Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas Mikoyan.

Authoritative officials said Nixon might also visit Poland, Yugoslavia and six Western European nations during a five-week tour as President Eisenhower's representative.

Nixon's stop in Moscow, they said, would depend on arranging a visit for a Soviet leader of about equal rank to this country.

Mikoyan's name has been mentioned most frequently by diplomatic planners as an acceptable swap but no formal invitation has gone out yet.

As deputy premier, as well as top economic-trade planner, Mikoyan's influence seems to be rising even though he is a holdover from Stalin's day.

He led the first public attack on Stalin's rule, even before Soviet party chief Nikita Khrushchev spoke out, at a Soviet party congress in February 1956. At present he is viewed as one of the top three Soviet leaders.

The timing of Nixon's good will European tour would be dictated by the state of East-West relations.

He said: "Our economic front, weakened by unrealistic tax policies, could well give way to a Soviet breakthrough."

Substantial Cut In Taxes Suggested

WASHINGTON (INS) — Rep. A. S. Herlong, Jr., (D) Fla., today called for a substantial reduction in both personal and corporate tax rates to help stimulate a business up-turn.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Central Lions Club in Chicago, Herlong also warned of Soviet Russia's economic offensive.

He said: "Our economic front, weakened by unrealistic tax policies, could well give way to a Soviet breakthrough."

Labor Board Bans Actions By Teamsters

W. Va., Ohio Plant Projects Affected In Truck Disputes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board issued an order today directing the Teamsters Union not to interfere with unloading operations at construction sites in Cresap, W. Va., and Omal, Ohio.

The summary of the case reviewed a number of incidents in which trucks of the McJunkin Corp. of Charleston and Wetz Transportation Co. had not been permitted to unload at the two locations.

Industrial developments are under way at the sites by Ohio Power Co., Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp. and Olin Revere Metals Corp.

The NLRB examiner said permission to unload the trucks was refused because Wetz drivers were represented by an independent union not recognized by the Teamsters, while McJunkin drivers carried no union cards at all.

The report said that on at least six occasions, the trucks would be unloaded while a union driver stood by for about 45 minutes, for which the union driver was paid $30.

The NLRB directed written affirmation within 10 days of compliance with its order directing the Teamsters to refrain from forcing or requiring either Wetz or McJunkin to assign the work in dispute to Teamsters' Union members.

Plane Searched At Port In Wake Of Bomb Report

CHARLESTON (AP)—Kanawha Airport was among those in the eastern part of the United States where a plane was searched last night for a time bomb which an anonymous caller said had been put aboard.

Piedmont Airlines Flight 36 was delayed for more than an hour while an Air Force demolition expert and a postal inspector searched the baggage and mail aboard for the reported bomb.

The scare originated in Cincinnati, Ohio, where the anonymous call was received. Two Delta Airlines planes there were searched, a Piedmont flight for Charlotte, N.C., was called back from Lexington, Ky., after its stopover there, and a Trans World Airlines flight was checked at Columbus, Ohio.

Nothing was found in any of the searches and later flights were made on schedule from the Greater Cincinnati Airport without further precautions.

At Charleston the team that looked for the reported bomb finished just three minutes before the time at which its members believed the explosion had been threatened to take place.

Word was received by Piedmont officials here from Cincinnati about 9 p.m. of the anonymous

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Farmers' Attitude

UNCERTAINTY seems to be the order of the day. But among the things that are less uncertain than others is the status of Secretary of Agriculture Benson in President Eisenhower's eyes. Ike, at his recent press conference, made it plain he is unlikely to yield to the clamor for Benson's scalp. Admittedly the opposition is more vocal and better organized than it has ever been. And the pressure from a group of House Republicans takes a most acute form: a flat warning that failure to oust the secretary may cost the GOP 25 farm-belt seats in the fall elections.

BUT MR. EISENHOWER has heard the basic complaint — that Benson is vehemently disapproved by most farmers — for several years now. He has never allowed it to sway his judgment that Benson is a man of courage and principle, doing a sound job for American agriculture. To the extent that they see him as both architect and symbol of farm policies they find to be unpopular, Benson's opponents may be taking a stand they feel makes political sense. They believe that if the symbol is removed, the source of the unpopularity will be gone. It is risky to try to forecast voter behavior, among farmers or anybody else. Possibly many farmers who normally incline toward the GOP side would indeed be impressed by Benson's removal, and stay in or return to the fold.

YET SOME observers are questioning how deep and lasting their satisfaction could be if that objective were attained. For "Benson's policies," including flexible farm price supports, are in fact Mr. Eisenhower's. There is no indication whatsoever that any successor he might name to the agriculture post would be permitted to depart from the course Benson has charted. If it is really policy, and not personality, that the farmers object to, then their unhappiness would seem likely to continue either until a new administration inaugurates a new policy or Congress develops the votes to override this or a subsequent administration.

Risky Stand

SENATOR Knowland of California hasn't exactly taken himself out of the 1960 race for the Republican presidential nomination. But according to the rules of the political trade union, he's made it tough on himself. He has declared that he likes the man who would be his chief opponent. As a matter of fact he went further and said he would support Vice President Nixon if he decides not to put in his own bid. This doesn't leave much time for the senator to develop the necessary full set of prejudices and hostile attitudes should he find himself in a knock-down struggle with Nixon for convention delegates in 1960. It almost sounds as if Knowland, now seeking the California governorship and voicing his expectation of serving at least a full four-year term in that job if he wins it, had made up his mind to wait until 1964 to try for the bigger prize. For he must know better than anyone that his kind remarks about Nixon will be tossed at his head like Herb Score's fast ball if he turns critical a year or two hence.

Courtesy And Lives

COURTESY HAS a long and honorable history as a kind of grease that reduces friction in society. It continues to serve that purpose. But now, for the first time since the idea of courtesy began to take shape, that admirable quality has in it the power of life and death. Every day, millions of automobiles trace an unbelievably intricate pattern on America's streets and highways. Much of this pattern is fashioned at high speed. Neither men nor machines being perfect, the pattern is marred by accidents ranging from mere fender nicks to head-on smashups. Not all traffic accidents are pre-actable. Observation suggests, however, that a surprising number of them could have been prevented by the exercise of simple courtesy. To yield the right of way instead of barging ahead, to let someone else get away first at a stop light, to keep well within a driving lane—these are acts of courtesy. They also are acts that reduce the accident potential. It was curiosity, not courtesy, that killed the cat. Courtesy has quite the opposite effect. It saves lives—not the lives of cats, perhaps, but certainly the lives of motorists and pedestrians.

Where's Woman's Place In Elevators?

NEW YORK. There is something distinctly inane about the American system of elevator etiquette, and whoever's responsible — be it Emily, Amy or O.G.s — had better look into it.

The current polite policy starts getting bungled on the ground floor, where the men are called upon to herd themselves back while the ladies go aboard first. When the elevator has been loaded, it is the girls in the rear kicking one another archly with their spikes, and the boys up front, trying to crush hats to chests at the risk of losing both in the sliding door.

Husbands and wives have been separated, generally without having made a firm decision as to which floor they want, which calls for panicky overhead signals, and someone's child, who was forced to the back with the ladies, is developing claustrophobia at seeing a wall of men between it and freedom.

INEVITABLY, the mezzanine is where two women want to get off. Bridge clubs and DAR groups generally meet on mezzanines, and it is also the location of the ladies room.

So one by one the men either bumble out or shinny up the wall, allowing this transfer to take place, meanwhile politely brushing one another if the ladies are bipped or batted in a large way.

The girls dumped, there are apologies all round and the men rebound. All the way up (sometimes to the penthouse floor, where the insurance salesmen are meeting), this well-mannered pandemonium takes place.

Women are the first in and first out, resulting in an unreasonable amount of shuffling and scuffling in the name of convention and etiquette.

RECOGNIZING the problem is, of course, considerably simpler than solving it. Women have come to expect a certain degree of consideration — to the point where some of them will push aside the man who tries to get into an elevator ahead of them and, will, what's worse, sniff significantly.

After a little shallow thought on the matter, we have concluded that the obvious solution — providing separate banks of elevators marked "men" and "women" — would be unfeasible. Not only is it a costly combatant to courtesy, but it would raise a new and even more dangerous matter of etiquette.

WITH NO SEX differential to consider, the matter of age would come up: elderly ladies enter the elevator first, and so on. It is horrendous to think of what friction that would cause.

It is suggested here that a more reasonable approach to elevators is the "common sense" method long employed on buses and subways, whereby if a woman gets preferential position it is only by virtue of being lithe.

We imagine the reason that old school etiquette has remained relatively alive in elevators is that — as in airplanes — people are a bit superstitious, not to say wary. If this is to be their last trip, let it be done with gentility. But the world is moving too fast for such nonsensical shuffling in the name of Emily Post. Woman has found her place in the sun, now let her find it in the elevator.

Parties Hope People Will Fill Coffers

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Republican and Democratic parties have now formally kicked off their 1958 campaigns with $100-a-plate-or-less telecast dinners from Washington, New York, Chicago and way points.

These affairs have been greeted with resounding apathy by most voters. This apathy is best measured by the difficulty both parties are having in raising money. Which isn't surprising.

What with the missile mess, the beginnings of a depression, the Texas oilmen's $100,000 dinner and the hullabaloo over Federal Communications Commission's padded expense accounts, no one can be expected to have much enthusiasm for politicians.

If this seems to reflect more discredit on Republicans than Democrats, that's only one part of the story. With two months of this Democratic-controlled session of Congress now gone, the only solid accomplishments are the passage of one supplemental appropriation bill to provide more money for missiles and the raising of the national debt limit five billion dollars.

NOBODY wants to give money to support such policies.

So it's no wonder that Democrats and Republicans are endorsing a joint "educational" campaign this year to persuade the voters that now is the time for all good men and women to come to the aid of their party.

There has been a lot of flap about this idea in years past without its ever getting off the ground. This year it's a necessity because both parties are broke.

The Republicans took in $27,000 last year and spent $1,131,000. Only reason the GOP didn't go in the red was that there was some money left over from 1956 contributions.

Democrats are even less fortunate. They have a $700,000 deficit from 1956. They hope to raise $300,000 for 1958. With around $300,000 raised the first two months of this year, they have just about met current expenses. They still have $1,300,000 to raise if they want to end the year solvent.

THAT'S WHY Democratic

Chairman Paul Butler is talking up this new fund-raising campaign which he and GOP Chairman Meade ALCORN have agreed to cooperate on this year.

It will be sponsored by American Heritage Foundation to give it respectability. Advertising Council, Inc., will run one of its public service campaigns to sell the idea that more people should contribute to the political party of their choice.

The idea is to broaden the base for political giving. It will seek to take the curse of the big fat-cat contributor off of political party support and give politics back to the ordinary pee-pul.

If more little people can be persuaded to make a financial investment in politics, it's figured they'll demand a cleanup.

Footie, Cone & Belding advertising agency in New York has been chosen to prepare copy, line up free ad space in newspapers and magazines, free time on the air for radio and TV.

THE CAMPAIGN will start in May. It will taper off in summer, pick up again from Labor Day to Election Day in November.

It will be up to workers in the two parties to do the actual collecting of funds in national, state and local drives.

Any community that wants to can, of course, run a bipartisan campaign under Chamber of Commerce, union political action committees or any other public service sponsorship.

Under such an arrangement the money collected would be divided 50-50 or in proportion to number of registered voters.

A trial heat on this kind of campaign has just been run in Alexandria, in west central Minnesota, with good results.

John Overton, city editor of the Park Region Echo of Alexandria, is given major credit for putting it over.

Solicitors working in pairs — one Republican, one Democrat — made house-to-house canvasses. Three-fourths of the people in this town of 2,000 gave. Total collections were $1,200.

Many people gave a buck some a sawbuck. One widow who had just received her social security check gave 50 cents.

If the two major parties could do a half or a fourth as well in national campaigns, their financial worry would be over.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — For some weeks there has been muttering and grumbling on New York's Madison Avenue, the street of hucksters, the complaint being that the press of the United States is doing a fine, irritating job of sniping at advertising men and the cult they represent.

The complaint is 100 per cent dead wrong. It is not the newspapers, nor columnists working for those newspapers, who have been doing the sniping. It is the writers of books, plays, musical comedies, motion pictures and TV shows.

THE GRUMBLING has become so loud that Varley, the theatrical weekly, now goes into detail and points out that respectable clients are becoming pretty sore about the light in which advertising executives are placed and they want a little more public rectitude and sticking to facts and behavior.

Since the clients foot the bills, it probably will happen. But are we not entering the barn by the rear door? It seems to me, who has a flood of acquaintances in the advertising business, that if lumps and anti-burlesques abound in various media of entertainment the boys from Madison Avenue have brought this state of affairs on themselves.

As the Indian said: "Plenty smoke means somebody writing letter," or, where there is smoke there is fire.

A NOVELIST named Wake-man, once upon a time an advertising man, was the first to clunk the boys over the head in a novel called "The Hucksters." Since then, at least three others have come along.

Whenever the films depict an advertising man he is a flashy, brash, heavy-spending (on expense account) boor. When plays have a character designed as an advertising man he is a Westport-dwelling, wining, irresponsible playboy hovering always on the edge of being fired and owing $22,000. And so it goes.

I have not ever found a book, movie, play or anything else which pictured a modern adman as a sober, hard-working, ethical, strenuous man of the community doing good deeds and making noble efforts. Since most of these items are written by former admen, it is to be assumed that they, the authors, know what they are talking about.

VARIETY says that a campaign will be undertaken to improve the portrait of the adman in the eyes of press and public. Fine. The fact that one is needed, or believed to be needed, is a commentary all by itself. You don't exist as a clown image in the public mind without once having played the clown.

Nor is the profession (and I think it is a profession) free from censure. It is all out, hell-bent to create a captive public. It is dedicated to making the American citizen a victim of advertising. It creates and attends seminars in trick use of the English language, although these seminars seem noble under the title: Semantics.

I'll give you an example of semantics: a certain cigarette now says: "Less tars and nicotine than other leading filter brands." The word "leading" is the trick. The fact is that one make of de-nicotinized cigarettes does have less tars and nicotine than all the others — but it is not a leading brand.

But the word "leading" here, so unobtrusively dropped into a sentence, has two edges. It implies that the cigarette in question is a leading brand, which truly it is, and that, also, it is better than all the other rivals in its sales quotient field. Debatable, but possibly true. The examples of weasel-wording could go on for a mile of type.

THE HIGH-FLOWN, meaningless words coined to describe modern cars add to the indictment. Take any one of the words and tell me what it means.

I won't use any here for respect of the English language, but they are fairly highfalutin words. The phrases used to decoy people into buying certain cigarettes. The useless pointing out of minuscule and merely gaudy decorating details on such fundamental tools as toasters or ranges.

A bacon came out, once and claimed it was "ovenized." It was bacon, raw and ready to cook, like any other bacon. No one ever did find out what "ovenized" meant, and I don't think the writer of the ad copy ever knew, either. These add to the public impression that admen play fast and loose with claims and words.

I don't much care which way the coin flips, as they say on Madison Avenue, but I do think it healthy that the man in the gray flannel suit finally has become self-conscious enough to detect the egg on his vest.

Tubs Handy, Why Not Soak?

WASHINGTON. — Among the bathtub-makers of Sheboygan, Wis., can be found some of the world's stubbornest men. Mules aren't in it.

For four years now the United Automobile Workers have been striking against the Kohler Company, major manufacturer of plumbing fixtures, and all hands still are sore. This strike has gone on so long now that some of the strikers are hard put to recall exactly why it was called.

Babies have been born to the strikers' wives during this unhappy interlude and now are almost ready for kindergarten. Some of the strikers' sons entered high school when the walk-out was called; now they're about to graduate and their fathers still are on the picket lines.

THIS STRIKE has been called one of the bitterest in American labor history. It is estimated so far to have cost the union $10,000,000 in strike benefits, publicity work, picket support, and radio oratory. No telling what it has cost Kohler in lost business; the management isn't talking.

So now the Senate labor racket committee under Senator John L. McClellan is investigating, and I can only say those bathtubs must exude some sort of virus: the Senators are fighting among themselves.

DEMOCRATS seem to feel that the Republicans want to give the breaks to the bathtub moguls. The Republicans claim the Democrats want to favor the workers. Some of the gentlemen barely are speaking to each other.

They've listened to stories of violence so far and even seen a movie of the picket line in front of the vast plant some years ago. More than 70 witnesses are waiting to be called, and I trust that some of them will explain — if they still remember — what the strike is all about.

THE WAY I hear it — and memories seem to fail after so many years — the original strike was called for more pay. The management kept operating the bathtub and washstand factory with employees who felt they were being treated well enough.

The money argument eventually was settled, but the Kohler Company wouldn't hire back the strikers. So the picket line continued, year after year, while violence waxed and waned.

Latest reports from Sheboygan indicated that all was peaceful, with strikers and workers—who were once friends and neighbors — still not speaking to each other.

REPORTS from management indicated that the union had gone all out to win. Many a union plumber around the country refuses flatly to install a Kohler-built fixture. One story is that several cities have adopted new building codes written so as to exclude Kohler-built fixtures from being used in new houses. This latter tale is widespread around Senatorial corridors, but I have not yet been able to confirm it.

PRESIDENT Herbert V. Kohler of the company, who will be called to testify, claims that the strike has fizzled and that he is earning a profit. President Walter Reuther of the union, who insists that he be called as a witness and the sooner the better, says the company is hurting.

I do think it might be a good idea for these battlers to soak themselves in warm water poured into a pair of Kohler tubs until they are in a pleasant mood, shake hands, and get back to work. Many of the strikers, who now are hazy as to exactly why they walked off the job in the first place, undoubtedly agree. If not, their wives do.

So They Say

We should remind ourselves that the pharaohs built the pyramids, Mussolini made the trains run on time, Hitler created some of the best roads and rockets, the Russians are building the Sputniks — but we still face the question of human values. . . . What the Russians aren't saying is that with all of their technical progress they also have to have concentration camps, secret police and government by terror. —Willard J. Graff, Springfield, Mo., superintendent of schools.

These Russian scientists and engineers are of high quality. The disparity in numbers today (between U.S. and Russia) is not alarming. However, if the difference in higher education rates continues, the disparity will become not only alarming but ruinous. —Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — Is the present college generation the best America has produced? This cheerful possibility is raised by Dr. Otto Butz, a young professor of political science at Princeton University.

It is part of the story of man that each generation tends to look down its nose at the generation that is rising to replace it on the stage of history.

So it is that the middle-aged man today, himself a survivor of what was denounced as "the lost generation," is often found now denouncing the present college crop as the "silent" or "beal" generation.

This verdict didn't jibe at all with the on-the-spot findings of Dr. Butz, who, as a German-born Canadian, felt himself in a better position to judge.

"AFTER ALL," he said, smiling, "I'm an inside outsider."

"I had heard the younger generation in the United States was a group of unthinking conformists without individuality, altruism or dedication."

"But gradually, as I taught college classes here, year after year, these criticisms amazed me more and more, and seemed more unfair to me. I sensed in these college kids a tremendous amount of seriousness, public mindedness — even idealism — covered over with a sophisticated casualness."

So much of what he felt to be eyewitness had been written about the present young generation that Dr. Butz wondered, "Why doesn't someone ask these young college men what they think of themselves — and the role they hope to play in life?"

He finally did it himself. He had 11 Princeton seniors, picked pretty much at random, write their own biographies — and their dreams. The result is a book called "The Unsettled Generation," and it sold 4,000 copies in two days.

"IT IS MY determination," wrote one, "to adhere to the belief that each man must find his own truth after learning the realities and truths that exist for others; that each man, in other words, must decide for himself."

"The characteristic fear of our generation is the horror of finding ourselves ludicrous," wrote another.

"The reason our generation has been accused of quiescence," wrote a third, "is probably because our elders are afraid of our image, when they compare it with their own."

To Dr. Butz the generation now maturing is hard-headed, realistic — and if anything too sober.

And here is his own capsule summary of our "hope for tomorrow": "These kids are going to be more responsible leaders, and more responsive to the public interest, than those of any previous generation."

Let's hope the professor is right. If he isn't, the world will be bent into a sorrier pretzel than it is now.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — The National Labor Relations Board hands down more than 3,000 decisions a year, but ordinarily the judgments it is called upon to render do not require quite the unconventional touch of a Solomon. However, it has just handed a decidedly tricky case in a manner far more solemn than governmental.

After eight years of appeals and counter-appeals, the NLRB found that the Cambria Clay Products Company had violated the Taft-Hartley law in the case of a brick kiln worker named Charles Howard. The company was ordered to make restitution to the workman in the amount of $230.

The company sent a check for that amount to the NLRB which forwarded it to Howard at his last known address, Oak Hill, Ohio, R.F.D. The rural mail deliverer was informed Howard had moved to Jackson, Ohio, and re-addressed the envelope.

IT WAS RECEIVED by Charles Howard at a time when his fortunes were at a very low ebb. He had been out of work for five months; his wife had just added another to his large brood of children; his rent was months overdue and eviction threatened, and the ladder was bare.

Charles Howard had worked for the Cambria Clay Products Company and been laid off. He believed some back remuneration was due him. He cashed the godsend check at a supermarket, loaded up with groceries, and bought one of his little girls a winter coat.

The NLRB marked the case closed, and was no end distressed when Charles Howard complained that he hadn't received his money. The board investigated and disclosed about as fantastic a sequence of coincidences as a hard-working federal agency ever encountered.

The NLRB learned that two Charles Howards, unrelated, had been laid off by the Cambria Clay Products Company. Without being aware of the other's existence, both lived at Oak Hill, Ohio, R.F.D. Both moved to the vicinity of Jackson, Ohio, and both expected Taft-Hartley recompense.

The board worried about the problem as much as if it affected the whole question of fair labor practices. At last its general counsel went to both the wrong Charles Howard and U. S. Comptroller General Joseph Campbell with a proposition. He won their agreement.

As a result, the comptroller general sent another $280 check to the right Charles Howard, with an understanding from the wrong Charles Howard that he will pay back the money to the government when, and if, he is able.

SECRETARY of Defense Neil H. McElroy, who makes little effort to maintain secrecy about his former business, worked in an ingenious advertising plug for his ex-company and one of its best-known products at a House Armed Services Subcommittee hearing the other day.

The Subcommittee, chaired by Rep. Paul J. Kilday, was considering the Cordier report for pay increases to the armed services, which would seem to be a bit out of the detergent line. The Defense Secretary said the pay raise bill now before Congress is not his idea of perfection, but that he will take anything he can get.

"You mean, Mr. Secretary," said Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, of South Carolina, soapy, "that the bill is not 99.44 per cent pure?"

"I know only one thing that's that," replied the Defense head, showing his ivory teeth. Then he drew hawks by holding up his hand and protesting piously:

"Mind you, I didn't call it by name!" (King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Blood Drive Nets 133 Pints

The Johnstown Red Cross Bloodmobile collected 133 pints yesterday during its visit to the Eagles Building.

The Bloodmobile was at Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory today. Physicians on duty yesterday included Dr. Adolph Wolfman, Dr. Howard Tolson and Dr. William A. VanOrmer. Fourteen persons were rejected for disabilities.

A total of 207 donors had been scheduled by the recruitment committee, but only 93 put in an appearance. The day was saved, however, by 54 volunteer walk-ins. Twenty were first-time donors and 12 came to replace blood received by relatives or friends.

Three names were added to the Gallon Club, including Walter R. Hensel, RD 5; Franklin C. Panpne, RD 4; and F. A. Decker, Knobley Street, Ridgeley.

Five donors became members of the Two Gallon Club. They are William G. Barger, 715 LaVale Terrace; Earl H. Gedrick, RD 3; Mrs. John Burke, 568 Fayette Street; Vincent Firle, 448 Baltimore Avenue and William R. O'Neal, 1205 Bedford Street.

Three Gallon Club members added yesterday include E. O. Bobo, 11 Potomac Street, Ridgeley; Mrs. John W. Hite, 439 South Street; Ralph L. Chambers, 626 Center Street, LaVale; and Edwin J. Rice, 513 Lowell Avenue. The next local visit will be April 7.

School Heads At Meeting

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegheny County public schools, heads a group of local educators attending a two-day meeting in Baltimore.

The conference, which opened yesterday, includes a general session, luncheon and dinner meetings and discussions under the general topic of "Important Issues in Education Today." Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, presided.

Other educators from Allegheny County at the conference are Miss Elizabeth Flake, supervisor of elementary education; Miss Mary Longridge, principal of Barton Elementary School; Mrs. Sue Dawson, principal of Midland Elementary School; Miss Katherine Laughlin, principal of Corrigansville Elementary School; Miss Catherine Thomas, principal of Columbia Street School; John Manley, principal of Hill Street Elementary School in Frostburg; Miss Grace Flier, principal of Mt. Royal Elementary School; and Miss Sara Wright, principal of John Humbird School.

About 400 elementary school principals, supervisors and educators are attending the conference.

Crystal Laundry Gets Recognition

The Crystal Laundry Company, 201 South Mechanic Street, received recognition last week at the national convention of the American Institute of Laundering in Chicago.

A member of the institute for 50 years, Crystal Laundry is entitled to be a member of the Golden Circle Club. The institute is the research and education center of the laundering industry and gives access to member firms to results of research.

County Board Office Sought By Democrat

A third Democrat has filed for Allegheny County Board of Commissioners.

He is Francis J. Duckworth, Corrigansville, a native of Allegheny County who is making his first attempt to seek public office. Duckworth is 36 years old and a member of Local 618, Laborers Union, but is on furlough.

He decided to file for county commissioner because he believes the Democratic Party should be represented on the three-man board and he is the first laboring man to file as a candidate.

Duckworth lives with his mother, Mrs. Elsie M. Duckworth, a widow, in Corrigansville. Previously filed on the Democratic ticket for county commissioner were James P. Russell of Mt. Savage and William J. Brode of Clarysville.

Of the 34 candidates who have filed officially with the County Board of Election Supervisors, 14 are seeking election as county commissioner. There are 30 official Republican candidates, 11 of them for county commissioner. All but one of the four Democratic candidates want to serve as county commissioner too.

Midnight Monday, March 10, is the deadline for filing for the May 20 primary.

Butler Would Ban War Trophies Sale

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md.) says teen-agers are buying submachine guns advertised as harmless war relics and converting them into workable weapons for gang warfare.

Butler said he would introduce a bill to ban sale of the war trophies for this reason.

Jaycees Set Discussion On Libraries

A discussion on the importance of libraries will be held by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Sharing the speaking assignment will be Dr. David W. Zimmerman, assistant state superintendent of schools, and Dr. Adam Baer of Frostburg, chairman of the committee which is seeking to have an Allegheny County Library organized.

Francis Deremer, chairman of the Jaycees' library committee, has arranged the program. He said Dr. Zimmerman first will discuss the functions of libraries in the communities of Maryland. Dr. Baer then will discuss some of the advantages which advocates of the county-wide library are emphasizing to civic-minded organizations and individuals.

Allegheny County can have county-wide public library service if the county commissioners vote to establish a county library and annually appropriate a sum equivalent to not less than a two-cent tax on each $100 of assessed valuation. This would amount to about $31,000 a year.

If the county makes such an appropriation, state aid will provide 16 cents per capita on the 1950 census basis—equalling $14,000 additional funds for Allegheny County's library service. Federal library aid will provide $20,000 for the first year and $4,000 for each year thereafter through June 30, 1961.

Optimist To Meet

J. N. Evans, president of the Cumberland Optimist Club, will speak at the meeting of the Bedford Road Optimist Club tonight at Bedford Road Fire Hall.

Doctor's Combination Stops Stomach Gas Before It Starts

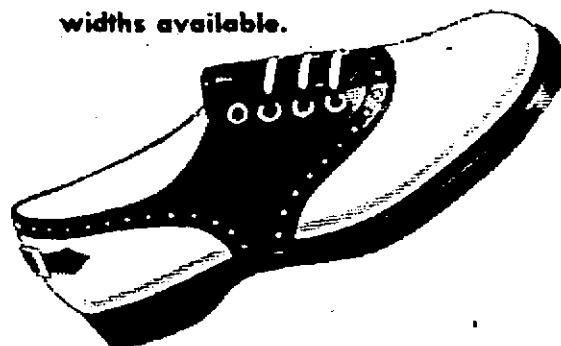

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery... Thousands of people who suffered for years from gassy stomach, heartburn, belching after meals and other symptoms of acid indigestion now report wonderful relief thanks to a formula developed by a prominent doctor and known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Containing not just one or two, but a special combination of 7 ingredients, this famous medicine is designed to stop stomach gas before it even starts. Instead of upsetting the stomach, as too frequent use of soda and alkalis often does, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery actually promotes more normal stomach activity. Taken regularly, it tones up your digestive system and helps you avoid gas, pains, heartburn and sour stomach. Once your stomach is working properly, you can eat what you like without distress. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped so many people that over 55 million bottles have been sold. Get it at your drugist's today in liquid or tablet form. Money back if not satisfied.

Health Department Sets Food And Dairy Meetings

Leaders of the food handling and dairy industry of the area will attend conferences next week which are being sponsored by the Allegany County Health Department.

Tavern operators, owners and managers of restaurants will meet March 12 from 1:30 to 5 p. m. at the Training Center of the Health Department in the Union Street County Building.

On March 13, milk and ice cream plant officials will meet from 1:30 to 5 p. m. at the Training Center.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, will be chairman of both conferences, assisted by J. B. Dowling, W. H. Shockley, W. R. E. King, Walter Patterson and Gaylord Brooks, members of the sanitation staff.

The program for tavern and restaurant operators will begin with a film, "How Clean Is Clean" and talks by manufacturing representatives on hot water, utensil sanitation and care of new milk dispensers.

C. S. Brinsfield, chief of the Food Control unit of the State Health Department, will discuss the purpose of the restaurant program in this county.

The conference will close with a question and answer period on the purpose of the right kind of equipment, doing the job right and cleanliness.

The Milk Plant Operators program on March 13 begins at 2 p. m. with a film on team work and cleaning equipment.

"What Allegheny County, Pa., expects from Dairy Farms in Maryland," will be discussed by Henry Albert, head of milk control for the Pittsburgh Health Department.

Farm water supplies will be discussed by Alexander A. Paris, from the State Health Department, and Mr. Brinsfield will outline Maryland's new milk regulations.

MAYOR JOSEPH JAMES

Mayor James
Plans To File
At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—At the close of the city council meeting last night, Mayor Joseph James told the group that at the urging of many persons in Frostburg he is reconsidering his recent announcement of not running for re-election in the April elections and that as of now "my hat is in the ring."

Mayor James asked the city clerk if anyone had filed for the position of mayor and was told that as of March 1 the only ones filing for the five city positions to be voted on were the incumbent commissioners and that no one had filed for mayor. It was at this point that the mayor made his statement.

Mayor James was elected to his present position in 1955, succeeding Perry W. Myers who was not a candidate for re-election.

In a recent statement, Mayor James pointed out things accomplished by the present administration, the outstanding project in his view being the aiding of the city group and cooperating in bringing a new factory to Frostburg. The mayor also pointed out that several debts of the city have been reduced and that money is on hand to pay for a new water line to the new factory which will be installed as soon as weather permits.

City employees received paid holidays from the present administration, an unsightly fence about the city baseball park was removed and the area was improved. He noted that traffic regulations on Main Street are improved to move the increased number of cars traveling through Frostburg.

Incumbent council members who have filed for commissioner positions are Herbert Loar, James Evans, William Preston and William Shuss.

Meeting Planned
By GOP Women

FROSTBURG — The Women's Republican Club of Frostburg will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the dining room of Frostburg State Teachers College.

Mrs. Ruth Holben, chairman, and her committee will present the program. Other committee members are Mrs. Wilfred Small, Mrs. Thomas Holmes, Mrs. James Mallow, Mrs. Joseph Durst, Mrs. Thomas McMoran, Mrs. Vivian Lloyd, Mrs. Dorothy Loar, Mrs. Agnes Schneider and Mrs. Alex Close.

A program of musical selections will be presented by Misses Sharon McClintock, Christina Kreil and Thomas Richardson.

A panel discussion will be held on "Politics."

Council, Gas
Company Talk
Of Franchise

FROSTBURG—The question of "How Much Will the City Charge the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company for a Franchise?" came up for lengthy discussion at last night's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

W. T. Haddad, manager of gas requirements, and Carl C. Robbins, district manager, presented the company's offer to council.

Haddad explained that the franchise with the city in which the gas company furnished free gas for municipal buildings expired in 1955. The city was notified at that time that an agreement would have to be reached with them, paying for all gas in the future and the gas company paying an annual franchise fee.

No agreement had been reached and the city owes $5,194.56 in delinquent gas bills. A month ago a meeting was held between council and Haddad, and at that time the city asked for $2,200 franchise fee with the company offering $1,000.

New Poles Needed

Last night, Haddad said his company would go to $1,500 and felt that this was a generous offer and that, in fairness to their customers and other communities, they could go no higher. Council again asked for more.

Gas company officials also said that if the council would sign an agreement for 10 years at $1,500 price they would cancel out the $5,194 owed them for back bills. Council asked for time to discuss the matter and stated an answer would be given later.

Edward Ewald, district manager of the Potomac Edison Company, reported that several of the company's poles on Main Street would have to be replaced, and that perhaps the city would be interested in modernizing street lighting at that time. A display will be shown tonight in Cumberland.

Council voted to lay aside $75 for use of the police commissioner and his department to defray the cost of a bicycle rodeo to be held in the spring for youth of the community. Explorer Scouts of Troops 42 and 48 are working with the Police Department in preparing plans for the affair.

A donation of $25 was made to the Pony Baseball League after an appeal by letter from Harry Eisel, president.

Church Auxiliary
Plans Hymn Sing

LONACONING — The Ladies Auxiliary of Penecostal Holiness Church met recently in the church parsonage. The meeting opened with a short devotional service, after which Mrs. George McDowell of Westernport spoke on "Women's Place in the Home and Church."

A donation was voted for Wayne Smith who has been a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital since December.

Announcement was made that a hymn sing will be held in Penecostal Holiness Church Sunday at 2:30 p. m. with members of all Protestant churches taking part.

H. H. Valentine of Baltimore, superintendent of the Baltimore Conference, will speak.

A social hour followed with refreshments served by Mrs. Paul Poland.

Brief Mention

Mrs. Charles Walters was honored with a birthday dinner Sunday at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William McIndae, West Main Street.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Goodwill Fire Company will meet this evening. A hat sale will provide entertainment. Refreshments will be served.

Piedmont Red Cross
To Elect Chairman

PIEDMONT — Officers and members of the board of Piedmont Chapter, American Red Cross, will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the office of the C&P Telephone Company to elect a chairman to succeed Rev. Robert M. Campbell, who resigned as of December 1.

Activities of the Police Department for February was given by Chief Lloyd Truly. In the Traffic Division there were two moving violations, four weddings, police, nine funerals, eight fire calls, 190 parking violations with tickets being issued, two warnings and three accidents.

Calls and complaints 94; 40 man hours assisting City Street Department; two cases referred to county doctor, no disposition; seven investigations, four Golden Rule drunks, two cases in court with one conviction, one breaking and entering, $567.37 parking meter collections, $4.90 light dockage and $44 in fines and bonds collected.

Garrett County
Will Launch Red
Cross Campaign

OAKLAND—A meeting in Accident School tonight at 7:30 will launch the 1958 Red Cross drive for funds in Garrett County.

Frank O'Connor, district director, Alexandria, Va., will outline techniques for fund raising and solicitation. A film on Red Cross work will be shown, it was announced by Mrs. Kermit Glatfely, county chairman.

Refreshments will be served in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Glatfely said cards were mailed to over 80 people who served as solicitors last year. Others who are willing to serve this year are asked to contact Mrs. Glatfely. She said nearly every area could use more solicitors.

The quota set for the county this year is over $4,000.

Harman Honored

W. Va. Court
Grants Appeal
In Area Case

CHARLESTON — The Supreme Court yesterday unanimously granted to a resident of Northern Ireland an appeal from a Grant County judgment interpreting the will of a Petersburg woman.

The appeal was granted to counsel for James W. Neilly of Ballymona, Ireland, who had taught school at Petersburg as an international exchange teacher.

The record showed that in 1953, Mrs. Marion H. Judy drew up a will in which she bequeathed to Neilly 100 shares of General Motors stock. After the stock was split three for one, Mrs. Judy disposed of 50 shares before her death in 1955.

Neilly's appeal was based on the contention that the lower court was wrong in holding that he was entitled only to 100 shares of the stock, despite the three-for-one split, and that the remaining 150 shares should become part of the residuary estate.

Judge Would Make Numbers Racket Illegal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Judge Loren L. Lewis of Allegheny County would make it illegal to bet on numbers.

"The numbers racket wouldn't last a day if thousands of people didn't support it," Judge Lewis yesterday told the March grand jury which is expected to hear the cases of 17 alleged racket figures on charges of bribing or attempting to bribe police officers.

He said the State Legislature should enact a law making it illegal to play the numbers, adding: "That is the only way you're going to stamp out this vicious racket."

Desk Detective Arrests Robber

CHICAGO (INS) — Detective Maurice O'Connor, who has a desk job as a fingerprint expert, has captured his second robber within a month—while stopping at a bar.

O'Connor, informing the tavern owner to appear in court in connection with a suspect he shot and captured in the $100 robbery of the bar last February 10, spotted a man carrying a gun.

The man, Edward Zellmer, 50, was identified as a suspect in a $500 robbery of two brothers that had just taken place.

TRANSFER AT SEA — Mrs. Irene Armenaki, 22, wife of the chief officer of the Liberian freighter, Dona Margarita, is carried off her ship in mid-Atlantic and taken across rough sea in lifeboat to undergo emergency operation on the liner Vulcania. The two ships met at sea after the woman became ill. She was said to be in good condition after the surgery.

U. S. Colleges Under Fire For Failing Responsibility

CHICAGO (AP) — Many of the nation's best colleges are ignoring their responsibilities by refusing to provide the United States with more and better teachers, an education expert declared today.

Paul Woodring of New York, consultant to the Fund for the Advancement of Education, blamed the schools with great prestige, superior faculties and high entrance standards.

"Some," he said, "prepare no teachers at all; others, so few as to be hardly worthy of mention." He did not identify any schools.

All the nation's institutions of higher education, he said, must share the responsibility for the preparation of teachers for elementary and secondary schools.

Many liberal arts colleges don't seem to care that their graduates are reluctant to become teachers, Woodring told the National Conference on Higher Education.

"The stronger colleges rightly take pride in the achievement of their graduates," Woodring said. "They are proud of alumni who become distinguished scholars or scientists. . . . Some are inordinately proud of the high average income of their graduates.

"They take much less pride in the graduate who becomes an outstanding teacher in the third grade, or in high school. Such a graduate rarely attains more than local recognition, and his salary has a devastating effect on the statistics of the average income of the Class of 1955."

Court Hits School Law In Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia officialdom sought for a legal escape hatch today through which it may prolong its battle to keep the public schools of Prince Edward County racially segregated—and open.

A new crisis arose yesterday when the U.S. Supreme Court declined to review a 4th Circuit Court decision that a deadline should be set for a beginning-to-end desegregation in the county's schools.

Federal Dist. Judge Sterling Hutcheson, who 13 months ago refused to set such a deadline, now must do so when asked by the Negro plaintiffs.

It appeared, however, that it may be several weeks before such a date is set. Meantime, the state's legal brains will plan new strategy.

The state's "wait-and-see" attitude was summed up by State Sen. Charles T. Moses of Appomattox, who represents Prince Edward County.

"We'll face the issue when it comes," said Moses.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. said the Supreme Court action "certainly was not unexpected."

Slot Machine Ban Law Up For Passage

Game Of Jai Alai Idles Because Of Budget Legislation

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Slot machines on the Potomac River faced silencing today by the Maryland Legislature while the game of jai alai idled behind the budget.

The Senate was ready to enact a bill nullifying slot machine licenses issued by two Maryland counties to piers and a boat on the Virginia side of the Potomac.

There wasn't a word of debate as the Senate advanced the House bill to final reading last night.

A similar vote in the House on outlawing of jai alai has been pending since Saturday. It has been stalled because the House has been staying on the Legislative day of March 1 until it can get the budget moving.

Must Pass On March 3

The budget, according to the Constitution, must be passed on the date of March 3. The House didn't receive it from the Senate until last night.

When the jai alai question does come up, it will face at least three amendments. Del. Kirkland (D-Anne Arundel), in favor of permitting jai alai with betting in his county, will propose that if it is banned a spotlight be put on slot machines. They are legal in his county as well as three others in southern Maryland.

Kirkland has amendments prepared to impose a State tax of 5 per cent on gross receipts from slot machines and make everyone having a financial interest in all gambling to file his name with the State. Kirkland also will seek to have minors banned from admission to places where parimutuel betting is conducted.

Screams Of Women Rout Robbers

CLARKSBURG (AP) — The screams of two elderly sisters being beaten on the front porch of their home near here at midnight brought neighbors who frightened off four masked bandits, the Harrison County sheriff's office reported.

Miss Carrie and Miss Laura Dillon were taken to the Union Protestant Hospital for treatment of head and other injuries.

Deputy Carl McIntyre said they told him that one of the bandits carried a knife but were unable in their condition to give a coherent account of the violence that preceded what appeared to be attempted robbery.

He said no money was actually taken.

The Dillon sisters home stands just outside Clarksburg near the fashionable Sunny Croft Country Club.

Ingrid Bergman Action Planned

ROME (INS) — Ingrid Bergman and movie director Roberto Rossellini were reported today to have completed separate private talks with their attorneys on the pending breakup of their marriage.

Friends said both hope a mutually agreeable verdict will be handed down in Rossellini's annulment suit which is scheduled for a re-hearing March 12 in Rome.

The director arrived secretly from Paris over the weekend and he and Ingrid are living in different apartments of the same Rome building.

State Yacht Will Remain In Operation

Senate Votes To Keep Boat Despite Attack By North

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The State yacht Potomac will continue to operate despite arguments it is uneconomical.

A move to do away with the big yacht was defeated 16-11 in the Senate yesterday.

Sen. North (D-Talbot) made the latest proposal to have the State give up the Potomac and buy what he called "a practicable boat."

North's motion was in the form of striking $70,000 from the Tidewater Fisheries Commission's operating funds.

"I think it is time to remove this travesty of a boat that has a crew of 18 and sleeps eight passengers," he argued. "It draws 11 feet of water and can berth only three places in Maryland."

Sen. Malkus (D-Dorchester) recalled he had made the "same" speech seven years ago. So he agreed "basically" with North's proposal. But Malkus said more study should be given to a replacement instead of just dry-docking the Potomac in the next four days of this session.

"It shouldn't be done by budget amendment," argued Malkus. He said the Board of Public Works was forwarded a resolution several years ago to study the best way of disposing of the Potomac.

Although the Potomac is under the Tidewater Fisheries Commission budget, it is referred to commonly as the "Governor's Yacht."

The Tidewater Fisheries Commission did lose $60,000 in the Senate for the purchase of an airplane. It previously had been denied the same amount for a new patrol boat.

Iranian Foreign Minister Recalled

TEHERAN (INS) — Iranian Foreign Minister Ali Ardalan announced today that ambassador to the U. S. Ali Amini had been recalled because of an unauthorized speech urging the pooling of Middle East oil royalties.

Ardalan told the Majlis (lower House of Parliament) that the envoy had expressed a personal viewpoint and had not received the Iranian government's permission to do so.

Addressing the Middle East institute in Washington January 31, Amini had urged the formation of a centralized pool for the Middle East's estimated one billion dollar annual oil income. He said the royalties would abolish "poverty in the midst of plenty in the area."

Business Briefs...

NEW YORK (INS) — Businessmen are paying their bills more slowly. The Credit Research Foundation reported today that retailers' payments at the start of this year were 79.9 per cent current, compared with 83.2 per cent three months earlier and 82.2 per cent on Jan. 1, 1957. Manufacturers' payments stood at 86.9 per cent, about two per cent below the figure in previous surveys.

The study by the foundation also noted that for all types of accounts the average time to collect accounts receivable was 33 days at the start of 1958. A year ago it was 32.2 days.

NEW YORK (INS) — January contracts for future construction in the U. S. dropped sharply with the total of $2,066,059,000, ten per cent below January, 1957. The monthly F. W. Dodge Corp. survey today showed non-residential building contracts slumped 17 per cent, but residential building was off only five per cent. In the non-residential area, contracts for manufacturing plant construction were down 53 per cent.

Bread dough is sufficiently kneaded when it no longer sticks to the board, feels smooth and springy and resists pressure of hands.

Wall Street Hears

NEW YORK (INS) — Wall Street Hears: normal equity position is advised.

Reynolds Metals earnings in current quarter likely to match pace of last half of 1957 when averaged 84 cents per share.

Outboard Marine Corporation sales expansion by 20 per cent above the record $151 million last year seen by firm.

A bill authorizing $3 billion for aid for a stepped up housing program will be forthcoming soon. Veterans Administration will also help housing by allowing a 1 per cent increase in discount on such loans.

Some factions in the oil industry hope it can get by without a price cut, crediting the cold weather, reduction in refinery runs.

"Five stocks which appeal to me for long term capital appreciation are, Amerasia, Royal Dutch, Minneapolis-Honeywell, Corning Glass and Reynolds Metals," says Walter Moore of Reynolds & Company. He points out, however, that he feels there is plenty of time to buy stocks for long-term holding even though he doubts last year's lows will be violated in 1958.

Market comment—Wiesenberg investment report: "The intermediate-term trend of the market is downward. No change in cautious investment policies seems warranted. Maintenance of buying reserves at a minimum of 30 per cent of a

Old Car Session Dates Advanced

MOUNDSVILLE (AP) — Dan J. Sihler announced that the dates of the spring meeting of the West Virginia Region of the Antique Automobile Club of America, Inc., at Oglebay Park have been changed from May 17-18 to May 24-25.

The general chairman of the arrangements committee said the change was made to assure larger delegations from Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Western Maryland and the western part of Virginia.

A tour of old cars, both gasoline and steam, from Oglebay Park to Wheeling and back is planned for the meeting.

Charleston Protests Gas Rate Hike

CHARLESTON (AP) — Last night City Council here voted money to oppose the United Fuel Gas Co.'s rate increase. Late today Consumers Inc. met to decide policy aimed at the same objective. Tonight Huntington's City Council will hold a special session to reconsider how it will make its protest.

The three meetings within 24 hours in the state's two largest cities are the latest public reactions to the United Fuel rates put into effect last December. They reportedly brought the cost of gas use up to about one and one-half times what it was two years ago.

The new rates are pending approval by the Public Service Commission. It will consider them at an April 2 hearing. If the PSC refuses its approval, the new rates will have to be canceled and refunds made to the customers who have paid them.

The City Council voted last night to use $2,500 from its contingent fund toward financing protest to the rate increase.

The money will be spent at the discretion of Mayor John T. Copenhaver, who earlier pledged Charleston to a combined movement with Logan and Huntington. The Logan City Council has voted $1,000 for use against the rates.

In Huntington a decision was made earlier not to enter in with the other two cities. But tonight the City Council will meet in special session to reconsider its action of last week.

Mayor Frankel said the meeting was made at the request of the entire seven-member council. Consumers Inc. met this afternoon with public utility experts to further work out its policies in the fight against higher rates. The group has received contributions from 1,500 persons since its formation.

West Virginia State Professor Neil Riden and Wheeling attorney and certified public accountant Tom Committee were invited to attend the meeting to provide expert knowledge. Mills Stanley of St. Albans, president of the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, was scheduled to be present. He announced last week that the federation would take part in the April 2 PSC meeting to voice its opposition to the higher cost of gas.

Two Children Killed In Fire

WALLACE, W.Va. (AP) — Two children died when fire struck their family home at Big Elk on W.Va. 20 about four miles from here last night.

They were identified as Lloyd Harold Winens, a third grader, and Forest Emwood Winens, a freshman at the Wallace High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winens escaped from the burning house with their other four children. But the father was injured trying to save his two trapped sons.

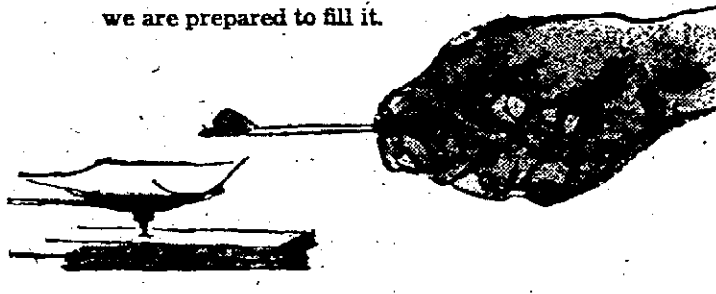

NO ELEMENT OF CHANCE

"Calculated risk" seems to be a popular phrase for old-fashioned "gamble." But there's no place for either in preparing or dispensing pharmaceuticals.

Ever notice the letters U.S.P. or N.F. on a medicine label? The letters represent two official books that are recognized by federal law — the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary.

Together, they are the pharmacist's "bible." They give approved standards of the quality, purity, and potency of most medicinal agents.

Delegates To Act On Budget Plans

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The House of Delegates got its turn today to say whether finance committees should have cut 7½ million dollars from Gov. McKeldin's proposed State operating budget.

The Senate agreed with the cuts yesterday, beat off all attempts to restore them, and even whacked the Tidewater Fisheries Commission out of a new $60,000 airplane, not deleted by committees.

Final action on the 379 million dollar spending bill was completed by the Senate on a 27-2 vote last night.

Rough Passage Seen
Storm signals were already flying for a rough passage of the budget through the House.

The Ways and Means Committee deadlocked 14-14 itself last night over whether to restore $329,830 it had helped cut from a proposed increase in the State's medical care program. After this hassle, the committee postponed until today any further action on other controversial reductions approved by the Senate.

While the House geared for its fight on the budget, a subcommittee from the ways and means began meeting with the full Senate Finance Committee on a tax program to raise 33 million dollars for balancing the budget.

A strong move was afoot in the Senate to raise all the money from the State income tax by increasing its rate from the present 2 per cent to 3 per cent and dropping the allowance for dependents from $800 to $600.

Office Hours
The local office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday including the lunch hour, Welsh said.

Meanwhile, Comptroller J. Millard Tawes explained that the Tax Division is receiving a number of amended returns for 1957 which changes computation made in returns originally filed and, in most cases, develops a refund larger than in the original return.

Because of the number received, it is impossible to coordinate the amended with the original returns and any attempt to do so would slow the refund process, he said.

In addition, it appears that many taxpayers filed their returns before receiving all of the tax withholding statements from various employers for whom they worked during the year 1957.

Refund In Original Amount
Tawes explained that in view of the inability of the Income Tax Division to coordinate the two returns, those who have filed amended returns will receive refund checks in the original amounts. These persons are requested by the comptroller to use these checks but before doing so to write the Income Tax Division and furnish the check number and serial number, both of which appear on the refund check.

Tawes made it clear that if any taxpayer desires to amend his return it would be better to wait until after his refund from the original return had been received. In this way the taxpayer could submit the amended return together with the numbers taken from the check. This procedure would simplify the amending of returns and eliminate the necessity of correspondence with the taxpayer in most cases.

Former Area Woman Killed
A former Lonaconing woman was killed in an automobile accident yesterday in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Victim of the mishap was Mrs. Margaret Youst, 60, wife of Joseph Youst, formerly of Westernport.

It was reported the Yousts were enroute from their home in Wheeling, W. Va. to Florida for a vacation.

She was a daughter of the late Charles and Mary (Clark) Dye of Lonaconing.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Marie Moffatt of Lonaconing.

Burial will be conducted on Thursday in Wheeling.

Local Authorities To Return Simmons
Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, and Deputy Sheriff Paul Haberlein left this morning for Port Chester, N. Y., to return Wilfred Carl Simmons who is wanted here in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Helen Steiner of Baltimore Avenue.

Simmons turned himself in to New York authorities last Saturday. He will be charged with assault with intent to main.

Board Appoints Two Men To County Jobs
Using an eligibility list submitted by the Civil Service Commission, the Allegany County Board of Commissioners today made two appointments to county jobs.

Mason I. Diehl was named the Union Grove Road and Bed-janitor at the Court House and Earl J. Heavner received the appointment as constable at Baltimore.

Both Pike who wish to travel to Bedford Road points near the Pennsylvania given several weeks ago, sylvania State line, Sieler said.

Rocky Gap Road To Be Checked
An inspection of the condition of Rocky Gap Road will be made this week by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to determine what can be done to alleviate the situation complained of by several residents along the roadway.

Jack Sieler, who appeared before the board, said the roadway is narrow, extremely muddy and families with school children must transport them several miles to a paved highway to meet the school bus.

It was brought out by Sieler this week that Rocky Gap Road connects with U. S. Route 40 and also with the Union Grove Road and Bedford Road. Improvement of the road would provide a much shorter route for persons out Baltimore.

Both Pike who wish to travel to Bedford Road points near the Pennsylvania given several weeks ago, sylvania State line, Sieler said.

County Gets Estimate On Survey Cost

Commissioner Orr Raises Cost Problem Of Creek Project

Three estimates were received today by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners on the cost of preliminary surveys for a sewage system for the Georges Creek area between Frostburg and Westernport.

Robert T. Regester, Baltimore, consulting engineer, estimated the cost at $15,000; Benjamin E. Beavin Company, Baltimore, $9,400 and John L. Coleman, city, $10,650.

Proposals have been made for construction of a trunk sewer line along the length of Georges Creek to service communities in that area.

Action Delayed
The commissioners discussed the matter briefly and then decided to withhold any action pending further study.

Commissioner James Orr submitted a statement outlining his position.

"I am in no way opposed to the construction of a trunk sewer project to serve the Georges Creek area between Frostburg and Westernport," the statement said. "Such a project is needed from a public health standpoint, and is very desirable as far as the development of the area is concerned. My only question is one of cost."

"The cost of this project is not limited to the construction of a trunk sewer line itself, but each of the incorporated towns of Frostburg, Midland, Lonaconing, Barton, and possibly Westernport, will be required to make changes in their present sewage disposal systems in order to connect with the trunk sewer line."

Up To People
"These changes may involve tremendous sums of money for the incorporated towns, so that the people living in these towns will not only be required to pay service charges sufficient to take care of the cost of the trunk sewer line down the creek, but will also be required to pay additional taxes in their own towns to take care of the additional work that will be required of each town."

"My only question is—Can these people afford it, or will it place an unreasonable burden on them?"

"If the people fully understand the cost of the project to them, and want it, I have no objection to it at all. The only part of this project that the county is going to become obligated for is the cost of the preliminary survey, so that the idea of cost is more important to the people in the area being served than it is to the county as a whole."

"I think that there is a possibility, at least there is some discussion that we may have a federal works program started in the near future, and certainly this would make an ideal public works project; and if it could be done this way, the local tax burden would be almost nothing."

Garrett Gets Light Snow
Accumulations of snow up to one and three-quarters inches fell in Garrett County yesterday and today but has not affected traveling conditions.

R. E. L. Putnam, district maintenance engineer for the State Roads Commission, said some equipment is out and roads in Garrett are 75 to 85 per cent bare. Chains are not necessary, he added.

The fall ranged from 1.75 inches at Accident to 1.25 inches at Oakland. The temperature was about 26 degrees.

Snow flurries were general in the area and in some instances covered the ground. There was no accumulation from Frostburg east.

The forecast for tonight is fair with a low of 22 or 27. Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and a little warmer in the afternoon. Rain, possibly mixed with snow, is predicted Thursday.

Frostburg Man Given 30-Day Jail Sentence
A Frostburg man was sentenced to 30 days in the Allegany County Jail this morning in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson sentenced the man, Paul Leo Morgan, Frostburg, after finding him guilty of non-support of his wife and three minor children.

Chiropractors To Meet On Thursday
The Western Maryland Chiropractic Association will meet Thursday in the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, according to Dr. Lowell M. Williams, secretary-treasurer.

The dinner will be held at 6 p. m. and the business meeting at 7 p. m.

the legislative board of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; F. Patrick Allender, business manager of the Carpenter's Union; Mayor D'Alesandro; H. A. Powell, of the Boilermakers Union, and Robert T. Weaver, of the Laborers Union. The candidate went to Frostburg and other communities.

Control Unit To Hear Talk On Thursday

Frank W. Kroll Jr., of Esso Standard Oil Company, will speak Thursday at a meeting of the Cumberland Section of the American Society for Quality Control.

The section's dinner will begin at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. A program will follow.

Kroll will discuss, "Effective Quality Control Program for the Industrial Control Laboratory." He will give a description and critique of the program which has been successfully carried out for three years at the Bayway Refinery.

Kroll received a bachelor of science degree in chemistry from Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute in 1946. Until 1953, when he convinced management to embark on a statistical quality control program, he did development work in the laboratories of Esso Standard. Subsequently, he was quality control coordinator in the laboratories at the Bayway Refinery for three years.

A member of ASQC, Kroll was program chairman for the Middle Atlantic Regional Conference held in New York last weekend.

B&O Starts Recall Of Men
The B&O has recalled 95 furloughed employees on the Cumberland Division, with most of the men being workers here and at Keyser.

There were 33 car repairmen recalled on the division, 18 at Keyser, nine in Cumberland and six at Cumber, near Martinsburg.

Of the 35 men in the motive power section called back to work, most are employed at the roundhouse and other shops here.

In addition, 27 maintenance of way workers were recalled.

This is the first break in the series of furloughs which began last November. The last furlough, in January, even caught some members of the railroad's clerical force here.

To Discuss Plan For Surplus Food
Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson said today he and Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, will go to Baltimore next Monday to discuss possibilities of distributing surplus food to needy persons in the county.

They will meet with William J. Brugger, supervisor of the Department of Procurement, which is the state agency handling surplus federal food distribution in Maryland.

Henry Hart Post To Select Slate
Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW, will nominate officers at its regular meeting today at a p. m. at the post home, according to Jack Diehl, commander.

Election of officers will be held at the next meeting Tuesday, March 18. Nominations from the floor will be accepted at that time.

LaVale Firemen Plan Open House Sunday

Civic Symphony Orchestra Event Set For Tonight

Richard Bain, harmonica virtuoso with the U. S. Navy Band, will be featured soloist today at 8:15 p. m. at a concert by the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra at Allegany High School auditorium.

Bain will be accompanied at the piano by Peter Schumacher, local musician and teacher. The Navy Band musician plays music ranging from Bach to Offenbach and has played before Queen Elizabeth of England, King Saud of Saudi Arabia and President Eisenhower.

The concert tonight is the first of three scheduled by the orchestra this season. Wilton Sykes, director, said a featured number will be Symphony No. 40 in G Minor by Mozart and the complete selection of music from Carousell. These include "If I Loved You" and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Tickets may be obtained at the door tonight.

Health Plan Meet Sought
A meeting will be sought by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with State Department of Health officials March 12 on the new regulations for eating and drinking establishments.

C. S. Brinsfield, chief of the food control unit of the state agency, will be here March 12 and 13 to discuss the restaurant program with tavern owners and restaurant managers at a meeting March 12. The March 13 date is set aside for a conference with dairy and ice cream plant operators.

The county commissioners also intend to have as many tavern and restaurant operators as possible attend the session at which the new regulations will be discussed. Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, will also be at the meeting.

The commissioners want to have the meeting in order to obtain ideas of the tavern and restaurant men on the new regulations as well as the State Department of Health's views. After the meeting is held the board expects to take action on formally adopting the new regulations.

World Music Program Set At Allegany
"Around The World," a concert of music ranging from the calypso beat of Mexico to the delicate folk song of Ireland, will be presented at the Allegany High School auditorium Friday at 8:15 p. m.

Songs from other countries will comprise the musical under the direction of Margery Chambers, directing the Girls' Octet and Choral Club, and Dorothy Willson, directing the Boys' Glee Club and other individual groups.

Songs pertaining to America are "Vincent Youmans Selections" and "America Our Heritage." The vocal concert will travel from country to country with the Boys' Glee Club singing "Anywhere I Wander" and "Happy Wanderer." Later "Banana Boat Song" will be sung by Paul Ossip, Fred Eichner, Clyde Bantz, and Gary Bucy. Putting the audience in a western mood, the boys' quartet, which is comprised of Kenneth Moreland, Fred Eichner, Clyde Bantz, and Lert Lazarus, will sing "Tumbling Tumble Weeds," "Go Lovely Rose," an English melody will follow; then a children's tale by Hans Christian Anderson called "Inchworm."

In Mexican beat the Senior Choir will present "Senorita Serenade" with Gary Bucy on the bongos drums, Downey Price playing maracas, Leland Ransom with gourds and Paul Ossip, Offutt Johnson and Dave Kerns percussion instruments. The choir will also sing "Hora," a Hebrew folk dance. Making their debut as a group will be the Girls' Octet. The group, selected from the Choral Club by Mrs. Chambers, consists of Margery Nicklin, Sally Runion, Joan Markwood, Barbara Arnold, Beth DeHaven, Donna Stewart, Anna Lee Parsons and Peggy Paddelford. Selections to be heard are "Oh Dear What Can The Matter Be," "When Children Pray," and "It's a Grand Night For Singing."

Songs by combined girls' choruses will be an arrangement of "Beautiful Dreamer," "How Beautiful Is Night" and the Irish folk song, "Ho, Mr. Piper."

The Boys' Club will sing "The Navy Hymn." A group selected from the choir will sing "The Celtic Hymn" and "Waters Ripple and Flow."

D'Alesandro Recalls Vote Against T-H

Candidate Making Tour Of Allegany County Communities

Prior to starting out on his tour of Allegany County communities today, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senate, told a breakfast group that he was basing his candidacy on his record.

"The mayor said that if he is nominated in the May 20 primary and elected in the general election next November, he will carry with him to the U. S. Senate the same aggressive policies which he used in his 11 years as mayor of the nation's sixth largest city."

D'Alesandro said that during his term a new school building was started every 60 days, Baltimore has become a model in the erection of public housing and slum clearance and the salaries of policemen, firemen and school teachers have been raised.

Cites Need For Action
"We need action in Washington to solve the many pressing problems facing America," D'Alesandro said. He cited the need for exceeding the Soviet Union in education and training of scientists.

"It is a sad commentary that the Russian's Khrushchev" was picked by a national magazine as the 'Man of the Year,' he added.

"During my tenure as mayor of Baltimore the progress of the city in new schools, fire stations, libraries and other public works has been great. We need something like it on a national scale," D'Alesandro said.

With a number of labor leaders in attendance, Mayor D'Alesandro found it pertinent to recall that he not only voted against the Taft-Hartley law when he was in Congress, but took the floor and fought against the restrictive labor legislation.

Consistent Labor Record
He said that not too long ago the laborers employed by the City of Baltimore were given a five-day work week for which they receive six days pay.

"My record on labor legislation has been consistent over the years," he added.

The mayor gave a short resume of his career as a member of the House of Delegates, a member of the House of Representatives in Washington during the administrations of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman and finally as mayor of the largest city of Maryland.

Mayor D'Alesandro even went back much farther in his reminiscences when he told the breakfast group that his grandfather fought in the Civil War in the Union Army and one of his brothers died in action during the Battle of the Bulge in World War II.

Speaking at a reception last night in Democratic headquarters in the Algonquin Hotel, Mayor D'Alesandro told his audience, "Route 40 between Hancock and Cumberland is a disgrace. After I left Hancock, I was sure we were lost and it took a little while to convince me that we were still on the National Highway. I understand the new federal roads program does end the National Highway at about Hancock."

Would Have Acted
"Let me assure you," he declared, "if that bill had come before me if I were in the U. S. Senate, I'd have gathered together the Senators from Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia and we'd have beaten down the door of the White House."

"How can anyone justify cutting off this section of Maryland from itself, and from the rest of the nation?" he challenged.

Speaking of unemployment that is rising in the country, Mayor D'Alesandro said "this is a serious problem, and at the national level, serious thought should be given toward lowering the age of retirement under Social Security and extending its benefits."

Following an all day "shoe leather" and hand-shaking campaign throughout most of Cumberland's business and industrial area yesterday, Mayor D'Alesandro will continue his efforts through much of the county today.

Starting at Corriganville this morning, Mayor D'Alesandro, accompanied by a number of well-known local Democratic party leaders, visited Mt. Savage, Frostburg, towns in the Georges Creek and Tri-Towns areas, returning by way of Rawlings and Cresapton.

Tonight, he will address a meeting of Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Candidate Pleased
At an open house reception last night at Democratic headquarters in the Algonquin Hotel, several hundred party leaders, workers and voters stopped to greet the candidate. Mayor D'Alesandro was outwardly pleased that so many well-wishers accepted the general invitation and "stopped by to shake hands."

Local party leaders said they were pleased at the number of visitors, interest indicates broad support of the harmony ticket which Mayor D'Alesandro represents as

by J. Suter Kegg

Chances are Chet Payne, Allegheny High basketball coach, has never heard of Fred Hetzel, Chet coming to Cumberland long after Fred had wound up his brilliant career at the Campobello school.

But after reading this, the Allegheny coach will wish that Hetzel and his family were living in Cumberland instead of Washington.

One of the most promising high school basketball players in the District of Columbia is Hetzel's son whose name is also Fred. Only a sophomore, young Fred is six-foot, seven-inches tall and a regular on the Wilson High hoop team.

Already about four or five inches taller than his dad, Fred was a stickout on the undefeated Deal Junior High team of last season. He is the tallest player in Washington's Interhigh League.

Because of Fred and a little five-foot, nine-inch junior sharpshooter by the name of John Luce, followers of Wilson are looking ahead to next year. They feel these two underclassmen can turn Wilson into a powerhouse.

In a recent game which found Bell upstaging Wilson, Hetzel grabbed 25 rebounds and scored 19 points. Luce, the team's leading scorer this season, collected 20 points.

Freddie is following right in the footsteps of his dad, the elder Hetzel being a star in his own right at Allegheny (1925-26-27) and later at the University of Maryland.

It was in baseball, however, that Fred, Sr. really sparkled. A slick-fielding "first" sacker, he caught the eye of major league scouts while at Maryland. The late Connie Mack wanted to sign him to a Philadelphia Athletics contract but Fred preferred entering the "business world" to a professional baseball career.

Director of the U. S. Employment Service in Washington, Fred held a similar position here before moving to the Capital City more than a decade ago.

Prior to World War II, Fred was instrumental in organizing Cumberland's Rocking Chair Softball League which has been operating uninterrupted ever since. It is the oldest softball circuit in the way of continuous operation in the area.

Active in the Junior Association of Commerce at the time, Fred played first base for the Jaycees before entering military service. He was a Naval officer during the war.

When Mel Henry brought his North Hagerstown High basketball team here last week to meet Allegheny he revealed that son Pat is a member of the Virginia Tech track squad. . . . A freshman, young Henry is running the 60-yard dash and competing in the pole vault, the latter being his specialty while in high school at Hagerstown. . . . Pat, a native of Cumberland, was a standout on VPI's freshman football team last fall, breaking into the varsity's starting lineup for the final game of the season against WMU on Thanksgiving Day. . . . Senior umpire in the American League is Bill Summers, beginning his 26th season in the majors. . . . National League graybeards are Al Barlick and Jocko Conlan, who started in 1940 and 1941, respectively. . . . Barlick is returning after sitting out the 1936 and '37 seasons due to illness. . . . A sportsman's paradise—nine million acres of new, nearly virgin wilderness in Alaska's Brooks Range—will be formally opened to hunters and fishermen this fall by the Department of the Interior. . . . Outdoor Life magazine reports that game which "had never been seen man before, much less been shot at" includes caribou, dall sheep, grizzlies, moose, wolves, wolverines and lynx. . . . Van Parsons is considered one of the best all-around schoolboy basketball players in the area, but the LaSalle High star was literally "faked out of his shoes" during last Friday night's blazing battle at Allegheny. . . . After the heart-throbber, Parsons discovered that someone had removed his dress shoes from the locker and he had to "sneak" home in his basketball "sneakers." . . . Van is hoping that the shoes, which were new, were taken only as a prank, and that they are returned. . . . The receipts from tonight's extra game between LaSalle and Beall at Frostburg will be divided 50-50 after expenses are deducted. . . . The money collected by the Explorers will go into the fund for sending them to the Newport, R. I. tournament later this month. . . . Jack Fisher, the former Frostburg Little League pitcher, pitched three innings of a Baltimore Orioles camp game Sunday at Scottsdale, Ariz. . . . The fire-balling righthander, who was graduated from high school last June in Georgia, gave up four hits, struck out two and walked one. . . . Jack was signed by the Orioles last summer to a major league contract and assigned to Knoxville of the Class A Sally League where win-loss proved a drawback to a winning record.

Millikan Calls ACC Tourney '$60,000 Farce'

Terp Coach Says Season King Should Be Crowned

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland's basketball team leaves tomorrow for the Atlantic Coast Conference tourney which Terrapin coach Bud Millikan calls "the annual $60,000 farce."

All eight ACC teams take part in the playoffs starting at Raleigh, N.C. Thursday. The winner gets a berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tourney.

"I think that honor should go to the team which is on top after struggling through the 14-game conference schedule," Millikan said. "The regular season leader is more representative as the conference champion."

Titled At Disadvantage
Millikan said the ACC titlist begins play in the NCAA at a disadvantage.

"Our teams reach a peak for the conference playoffs," he said, "and three days after the final game the champion must start competition in the national tournament. It's too much."

While happy that his fourth-place Terps get another crack at the league title and grateful over the money derived from the playoffs, Millikan said, "We should hold the tournament at Christmas time as some other conferences do. The results would have no bearing on the league."

Millikan admitted this would call for some sacrifice on the part of four of the eight conference members, because North Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest and North Carolina State participate in the profitable Dixie Classic during the Christmas holidays every year.

Limited To 26 Games
The ACC tourney, however, can deprive all but the two finalists of a possible money-making inter-sectional clash.

NCAA rules limit schools to 26 games a season prior to post-season tournaments. Thus it is possible for the four first-round losers to have completed in only 24 games during the season, and the semi-final losers in 25 games.

Maryland finished the regular season with a 9-5 conference record and 17-6 in over-all competition. The Terps were ranked among the country's top 10 teams most of the season before dropping to 17th following losses to sixth-ranked Duke and 13th-rated North Carolina on consecutive nights.

The Terps now get a chance to avenge one or two of those losses and maybe add emphasis to Millikan's plan for scrapping the post-season tourney.

Bobcats Bow In Final Game

The Frostburg State Teachers missed a chance to end their season on a victorious note when the Bobcats dropped a 79-73 decision to Shippensburg last night in the Pennsylvania town.

The Bobcats closed with a 16-4 record but had an eight-game winning streak snapped by the Red Raiders who atoned for an earlier 78-70 setback at Frostburg.

Trailing 37-33 at intermission, Frostburg fought back to dead-lock the score several times in the second half but finally fell behind without ever gaining the lead.

The loss closed the careers of six Frostburg seniors on a dismal note after the team had compiled its best record in history. Finishing for Frostburg were Bill McCall, Joe Carter, John Keister, Joe Nolan, Dave Marple and Jim Cave.

High scorer for Shippensburg was Schmitt with 23 points. His accuracy from the outside in the clutch proved the deciding factor in the hard-fought game. Best for Frostburg was Marple with 24 points.

Giles And Umpires To Meet Wednesday

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—National League President Warren Giles will conduct a two-day meeting with his 16 umpires at the Floridian Hotel in Tampa Wednesday and Thursday.

Giles, in announcing the meeting, said last year's session was so successful "we probably will make it an annual affair."

The meeting is to enable umpires "to discuss any problems or question which may be in their minds," Giles said.

THE Texas University Longhorns ranked eleventh in the nation in basketball marksmanship last year.

Lemon Must Win Back Job With Indians

TUCSON, Ariz. (INS)—Bob Lemon, a seven-time 20-game winner and one of baseball's top pitchers over the last decade, must re-win his job with the Cleveland Indians this spring at the age of 37.

It's up to the curve-ballinger righter to prove that he has recovered from an off-season operation on his right elbow for bone chips.

The operation, which removed 20 pieces of bone and lining, left Lemon with a three-inch scar and a doubtful status on the Indian staff.

The chips caused him misery during the 1957 season, which was his most disastrous since he gave up inflicting to become a pitcher with the Indians in 1946.

Had Dismal '57 Record
Lemon, who won 20 games for the first time in 1948, had a dismal 6-and-11 won-lost record in 1957 and a 4-62 earned-run average.

Last season was a sad one for Lemon and the Indians, their worst finish in the last decade.

Lemon's troubles began when he injured a leg muscle while fielding a grounder. Later, his elbow started to kick up a storm.

His arm became so sore as the season progressed that he would be in agony after pitching only a few innings and unable to straighten his arm.

Lemon was ordered to leave the team and rest his arm. But rest wasn't enough and in November he was operated on by Dr. Dan Lenthall, a noted orthopedic surgeon.

When Lemon reported for spring training, his scar was the center of attraction and the forthright hurler said:

"I don't know if I can pitch or how often or anything, but the doctor seems to think I'll be all right and he should know."

Throws Curves Without Pain
Freshman manager Bobby Bragan ordered Lemon to take things easy during training.

"I don't know how soon we'll know about him, but I imagine we'll find out by opening day and that's soon enough," Bragan said.

A few days after training opened, Lemon staged a brief workout during which time he threw some curves. After it was over, he reported "no pain," the best news the Tribe could receive from Lemon who won a total of 207 games while losing 127 since 1946.

Adding a silver lining to Lemon's future is the fact that Tribe pitching coach Mel Harder sports an identical scar and Harder said the operation lengthened his career by six seasons.

Tribe fans are hopeful the knife will spell a reprieve for the quick-witted hurler who quipped about his surgery:

"I'm the only player who was cut twice this winter. Once in the elbow and once in the pocketbook. The pocketbook hurt more."

Most observers predict that if Lemon can regain part of his old form and win between 10 to 15 games, the Indians will regain a first-division berth.

Kansas State Tops Poll, Then Bows To Nebraska

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press

The stage is set for a four or five team free-for-all for the mythical national college basketball championship in next week's final Associated Press poll, courtesy of the Cornhuskers of the University of Nebraska.

Nebraska defeated NCAA-bound Kansas State 55-48 last night at Lincoln only a few hours after K-State had been voted the nation's No. 1 team for the fourth straight week. In their previous Big Eight start, the Cornhuskers had flagged Wilt Chamberlain and Kansas after having lost to the same Jayhawk crew by 60 points a few games before.

Kansas State's loss, coming on the heels of its noticeable dip in prestige in the weekly balloting, ought to throw the final accounting wide open with the Wildcats from Manhattan, Kan., challenged by West Virginia, Cincinnati, San Francisco and Temple. They followed Kansas State in that order in this week's poll of sportswriters and sportscasters.

West Virginia (23-1) and Cincinnati (22-2) had come close to wrestling the top spot from Kansas State even before the upset costing the Wildcats their second loss in 22 games and their first since Dec. 30. The Mountaineers drew 570 points compared with 574 for K-State. Cincinnati had 563 for third place.

Right behind were San Francisco 436 and Temple 426, followed by Duke, Notre Dame, Dayton, Kentucky and Kansas, completing the top 10.

Nebraska, 10-12 for the season, pulled away in the second half of a ball control game as Kansas State, playing without ailing 6-9 Jack Parr, lost scoring ace Bob Boozer on fouls with 8½ minutes left. The Wildcats, however, were 10 points behind when Boozer, scoring 20 points, went to the sidelines. Willie Fitzpatrick led Nebraska with 19.

The poll standings with first-place votes in parentheses:

1. Kansas State (17)	574
2. West Virginia (23)	570
3. Cincinnati (24)	563
4. San Francisco (18)	562
5. Temple (7)	526
6. Duke (5)	524
7. Notre Dame (5)	523
8. Dayton	519
9. Kentucky	510
10. Kansas	503

Colts, Redskins To Play Aug. 29

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts and the Washington Redskins of the National Football League will play their annual pre-season game here the night of Aug. 29.

Baltimore holds a 3-1 edge in the exhibition series and there was one tie. Washington's victory was a 24-14 triumph last season.

The Colts open their regular NFL season Sept. 28 with a game against the Detroit Lions in Baltimore. The Colts and Redskins play a regular season game Oct. 26.

Mizell Hopes Justify Faith Of Manager

By Rouson

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, the high-on-promise, but low-on-production pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, will be a man with a mission this season.

The gangling fastballer with the picturesque nickname never has quite lived up to his appellation as "the lefthanded Dizzy Dean." But he is determined to justify Manager Fred Hutchinson's faith when practically everybody including himself had given up on him.

"I hope this doesn't sound bad," he said today, "but I've never been more serious in my life about having a big year than I am now. Certainly I want to win for myself, but I also want to show my appreciation to Hutch for the way he stuck with me last year when perhaps no other manager would have."

Shows Great Patience
"Fred showed tremendous patience. I must have been the league's worst pitcher until around the All-Star game. But he gave me every chance he could. If Hutch had given up—and I wouldn't have blamed him—I'd have been through. But he stuck with me and I'll never forget it. I hope to repay him in full. I'm determined to have the best season of my career."

As proof of his earnestness, the big fellow arrived at the camp two weeks ahead of the other varsity pitchers in order to get into the best possible shape.

This is something he didn't do last year, which may account for the fact that he didn't win his first game until June 9.

Mizell, whose calm, easy-going manner belies his serious nature, realizes he never has lived up to his potential. Possessor of a fast ball that had veteran scouts comparing him to such lefthanded speedsters as Bob Grove and Rube Waddell, Mizell was labeled a future 20-game winner after striking out 257 Texas League batters in 238 innings while with Houston in 1951.

Not Close To Winning 20
It is a matter of record that Vinegar Bend hasn't even come close to pitching 20 in any of his four seasons. He had his poorest season in 1957 winning only 8 while losing 10.

After the middle of the season, Mizell party vindicated his manager by winning five of six starts, permitting only two earned runs per game.

"I can't explain my sudden reversal," he said. "I wish I could. I shortened my motion a bit. That helped my control a bit and made my curve a little sharper. But it shouldn't have made that much difference. All I know is I felt much looser in the second half of the season. Maybe I just wasn't in shape during the early part of the season. This year I aim to make sure."

Lopez, ticketed for a pay cut because of poor defensive play last season, was reported to have agreed to a salary of about $12,000. He was one of the A's top hitters last year with a .292 average.

Lopez, Trucks Sign '58 Pacts With A's

PITCHER Virgil Trucks and third baseman Hector Lopez signed 1958 contracts today bringing the Kansas City Athletics to full strength.

Trucks agreed to terms after a talk with General Manager Parke Carroll. His salary was not announced but the club let it be known he received a slight pay increase. He had a 9-7 season last year.

Lopez, ticketed for a pay cut because of poor defensive play last season, was reported to have agreed to a salary of about $12,000. He was one of the A's top hitters last year with a .292 average.

Two Area Titles At Stake In Court Games Tonight

Completion of the District 1 state tournament field for this weekend and a chance for Hyndman's cagers to win the Bedford County League title are two of the three games carded tonight on the high school basketball scene.

The third clash, which was put on the schedule last week, will have LaSalle and Beall closing out their regular seasons in a tilt at Frostburg. All of the games will start at 8 o'clock.

The once-beaten Explorers, who bagged a share of the city title last Friday with Fort Hill by pulling one out against Allegheny, 60-59, will be facing the Mounties for the third time this season.

Beall, having one of its worst campaigns, will be closing out a 21-game slate. The Mountaineers, who had only 20 games carded for the season, were able to get in a third against LaSalle and it will count on the regular-season standings of both quints. The Explorers, who are Newport, R. I., bound later this month, are not held by the state scholastic ruling which permits its members only 20 games plus one with the Alumni in a season with the exception of tourney clashes.

Explorers Seek 22nd Win
The Explorers will be going for their 22nd victory in 23 attempts—only the one-point, 55-54, loss to Fort Hill blurring an otherwise spotless record. LaSalle has met all the teams in the WMJ League and sports an 11-1 record, sweeping Mt. Savage, Valley, Bruce and Allegheny in addition to the pair of previous conquests of the Frostburgers. They split with champion Fort Hill, bagging the opener, 80-52.

The Mountaineers were taken into camp, 67-58 on the SS. Peter and Paul boards and then by 83-65 before the home folks. The Explorers haven't dropped a road tilt for 11 attempts. They are 11-1 at home.

Beall, with a sub-par showing of four wins and 16 beatings, has won two at home and two on the road. The Mounties whipped Mt. Savage, 73-37, in Frostburg and took Bruce of Westernport across, 57-50, at home.

The Garrett County Class "B" champion will be decided tonight at the Cove when Northern is host to Southern of Oakland. The Huskies, last year's winner, forced the playoff last Friday when they set down the Highlanders, 62-58.

Southern had won the first of their two-game series which decides the "B" honors, 57-53. Northern carries the best record into the fray with 11 wins and seven defeats. The Highlanders have won 10 and dropped eight.

Winner Draws Clear Spring
Tonight's winner draws Clear Spring in the second game, slated for 6 p. m. this Friday at Fort Hill in District 1 action. Clear Spring is the Washington County "B" champ. Valley of Lonaconing, state "B" champ and in for the fourth straight year as County "B" king, will face Brunswick in the second, semi-final Friday at 7:30. Brunswick is the Frederick County victor for "B" standings.

Hyndman has a chance of winning the Bedford County League honors if the Hornets can get by Saxton tonight on the latter's hardwoods. The Hornets, with a 13-4 record and four-game win streak, are on top in the loop with a 5-2 record.

Saxton, able to throw the race into a three-way tie, for the title by spilling the Hornets, has won four and lost three while Bedford shows a 5-3 mark. The Blsons are finished for league play while both the Hornets and Saxton wind up tonight.

Saxton lost out by two points, 60-58, on the Hyndman court early in the season.

Trio Piedmont Cagers Cited As All-Stars

Piedmont High's champions landed three places on the all-star basketball teams of the Polomac Valley Conference, announced at the spring meeting of the 17-team loop last night at the Old Homestead Hotel, Burlington, W. Va.

No school, however, landed more than one place on the first team. Comprising the first team are: Bill Maples, Romney's sensational sophomore, and high average scorer of the circuit; Jim Vetter, of Moorefield, who hung up an all-time high of 456 points for one season; Donald Moyer, high scorer at Mathias, Joseph "Goose" Taylor, classy all-around player of Piedmont, and Ronald Smith, sharpshooting center for Keyser.

Piersall Attacks Stengel For Criticism Of Mantle

By JOE REICHLER

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Jimmy Piersall, Boston's irrepressible outfielder, said today he was surprised at Casey Stengel's recent criticism of Mickey Mantle and could not understand why the New York Yankee manager would want to "run down" his most valuable player.

"I think it was real bush of Casey the way he publicly criticized Mantle's fielding in the World Series, telling reporters that Mickey would have to go back to school to learn how to catch fly balls," said Piersall. "If he thought Mantle needed more practice in the field this spring, why didn't he just tell that to Mickey instead of running him down to the press?"

Piersall, once labeled by Stengel as "the best defensive outfielder I ever saw," then went on to defend his center field rival.

"Sure, Mickey is no Willie Mays in the outfield," he said, "but for a fellow who never played there until he came up to the major leagues, he does a pretty good job. I know he always plays well against us."

"Maybe he doesn't make those diving catches that Casey likes. But I don't blame him. Anyone who has had as much trouble with his legs as Mickey has should never attempt a diving catch. Instead of urging Mantle to go all out more, Casey should tell him to be more careful and pray that Mickey doesn't hurt his legs. Casey and the Yankees need Mantle; the American League needs him; all baseball needs him."

Piersall said he made only one diving catch last season, against Mike Garcia of Cleveland.

"I rarely ever attempt one," he said, "and there's nothing wrong with my legs. I think it's foolish to try for them because you make one out of 10 and the nine you miss go for extra bases."

"They say Mantle has trouble with line drives hit directly over his head. What outfielder doesn't? That's the hardest ball for an outfielder to catch. The reason I'm pretty fair at it is because as a kid I used to spend hours each day throwing the ball over my head behind me and then running back and circling under it."

Piersall led all outfielders in total chances last year. He had 397 putouts, 12 assists and committed four errors.

American Given Tournament Berth

NEW YORK (AP)—Five more teams have qualified for the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. small college basketball tournament and the last three berths in the 32-team field will be determined in playoffs tonight, the NCAA announced today.

The University of South Dakota, Knox of Illinois, Akron U., and American U. of Washington, D.C. won conference berths in week-end play and Northern Illinois was chosen today to fill the last remaining at large berth.

Old Germans Retain Lead In City Play

Sparked by Fritz Showers' 22-point stint, Loyal Order of Moose nosed out the Old Exports in an 80-74 City Basketball League thriller last night at Fort Hill High to remain a game behind the Old Germans in the rugged second-half race. The Old Germans stayed on top by walloping Knights of Columbus, 89 to 62, in the other half of the doubleheader.

The Moose gained their hard-earned victory at the foul line, being outscored 33-30 in field goals. The victors converted 20 of 27 chances while the Exports shot a sub-.500 clip—8 for 17. The exciting battle found the score knotted at the end of the first and third periods and the Exports holding a slim two-point edge at intermission.

Bob Pence led the Export attack with 25 points on 11 field goals and three for three at the free-throw line. Paul Smith was runnerup with 20 points on nine baskets and two for two fouls.

The Germans, bombing away to the tune of 39 field goals, rocketed to a 45-28 halftime advantage and coasted over the Exports. Jim Eckard led the winners with 20 points and Norm Geatz had 18 for the Knights.

D&W Quint, St. Michael's Take Openers

Dickerson and Wesley and St. Michael's scored victories as the Frostburg Church League basketball playoffs got under way last night on the Beall High court.

D&W remained undefeated by rolling over English Baptist, 60 to 29, the win being the 16th for the regular season champs. St. Michael's won over Eckhart Baptist, 45-39.

Fred Hall led the D&W attack with 19 points and Ed McFarland hooped 10 for English Baptist. Dave Kerch paced St. Michael's with 14 points, same amount gathered by Ed McKenzie of Eckhart.

The league will be idle until Thursday night when the quarter-final playoffs resume. Salem Reformed meeting Frostburg Methodist at 7 o'clock and St. Joseph's of Miland clashing with Congregation at 8.

Semi-final contests are set for next Monday with the finals planned Tuesday, March 11.

LaSalle, Fort Hill End Season Tied

A rolloff will be held next Monday on the Capital alleys to determine the winner of the second-half championship of the Bi-State Interscholastic Bowling League.

The race ended in a deadlock between LaSalle and Fort Hill when both teams scored 2-1 victories yesterday at the Capital. Fort Hill defeating Ridgeley and LaSalle conquering Allegheny.

Monday win for LaSalle would give the Explorers, first-half winners, the league title, but a Sentinel victory would necessitate another rolloff.

High scorers yesterday were Ed Dawson, 174 game and Jim Lewis, 443 set, Fort Hill; Darryl Meese, 137-386, Ridgeley; Tim Felten, 428 set and "Fleck" Fleckenstein, 187 game, LaSalle, and Paul Ossip, 351 and Gene Will, 144 game, Allegheny.

Now one physical examination for Life Insurance carries you through the years!

As we advance in age every man sooner or later will cross the line of insurability when he can no longer buy life insurance, or must pay higher rates for it.

Now... for the first time a revolutionary new idea that guarantees your "insurability" to age 40... gives you the right to buy added insurance at standard rates, REGARDLESS OF HEALTH.

This new concept was introduced by Bankers Life Company. It is designed to answer the age-old insurance question: "When I need more insurance and can afford it—will I be able to get it?"

Think what this means to the man just starting out in the business world... the young doctor... lawyer... men who know they will want more life insurance as they "grow". For only pennies-a-day more than the cost of an ordinary plan they can NOW guarantee the right to buy additional insurance later — REGARDLESS OF HEALTH.

Let us tell you all about this exciting new life insurance concept. Call us today.

SALT LAKE CITY—Gene Fullmer, 159, West Jordan, Utah, outpointed Milo Savage, 160, Salt Lake City, 10-0, NEW YORK—Sugar Hart, 147, Philadelphia, outpointed Duke Harris 145-4, Detroit, 10.

DALLAS—Davey Dupas, 140, New Orleans, outpointed Gale Kerwin, 139, Valley Stream, N. Y., 10.

Braveholdout List Shrinks, Conley Signs

By The Associated Press

The World Champion Braves trimmed their holdout list to five when front-line pitchers Gene Conley and Bob Buhl came to terms yesterday.

General Manager John Quinn still has these to deal with: World Series hero Lew Burdette, reliever Don McMahon, outfielder Wes Covington, shortstop Johnny Logan and first baseman Frank Torre. The Yankees all but closed their ledgers when Bill Skowron signed leaving Tommy Byrne as the lone holdout of the American League champs.

The Cleveland roster was filled when Chico Carrasquel informed the Indian office his signed contract was in the mail.

Conley's quick signing was a surprise. Only last Saturday he said he "almost fipped" when he saw his contract calling for the maximum 25 per cent pay cut.

The Yanks awarded Skowron an estimated $22,000 contract.

General Manager Frank Lane of the Indians still is looking for a reliable second baseman. He expressed a liking for Baltimore's Billy Gardner.

Other managers have injury problems. Cub pitcher Dick Littlefield was hit in the right forearm by a line drive. Dodger pitcher Roger Craig came up with a sore shoulder muscle and infielder Dick Gray was hit on the leg by a couple of stray pitches. Giant twirler Stu Miller was hit in the knee by a batted ball and outfielder Willie Mays turned up with a cold.

Salvation Army Pulls Upset Win

South End's Salvation Army basketball team upset First Presbyterian, 40 to 38, in double overtime yesterday on the Central YMCA court. The loss was the second in five starts for the Presbyterians in second-division play in the Sunday School League.

The teams battled on even terms throughout with First Presbyterian on top 5-3 at the close of the first quarter and the score deadlocked at 18-all at intermission and 28-all at the end of the third period.

The regulation contest ended with the score 34-34 and each team added a pair of tallies in the initial overtime stanza.

High scorer for Presbyterian was Joe White with 14 points while Gross also tallied 14 for Salvation Army.

Orioles Hold Batting Drills

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles resumed their intrasquad games today after taking a day off while Manager Paul Richards stressed batting practice.

Richards has put more emphasis on hitting in this spring camp than at any time since he took over the Birds in 1955.

A visitor at camp yesterday was Frank Lane, general manager of the Cleveland Indians. He just missed connections with Richards. Lane made it plain he'd like to have second baseman Billy Gardner and called him the best in the league.

The Tribe chieftain said he liked Gardner "well enough to go all out in a deal that might strengthen the Orioles club in a couple of spots." Lane named no Cleveland names.

Fullmer Wins But Is Boored

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, 159, staked out his familiar claim to a title fight or a "money" bout today after gaining a unanimous decision over veteran Milo Savage, 160, Salt Lake City.

About the only thing Fullmer earned in the relatively dull 10-round bout last night was his purse of about $3,600. He never was able to land any effective combinations on the shifty Savage.

His manager Marv Jensen said he would be angling for Fullmer to meet the winner of the Carmen Basile-Sugar Ray Robinson title fight this month.

A capacity crowd of about 4,900 at Salt Lake Coliseum boomed loudly when the action slowed in the late rounds last night.

'Conquest' Rated Best Among Science Shows

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—In this age of increased emphasis on science, the creative minds of the television networks are sincerely trying to inform us unscientific viewers. To this unscientific viewer, Conquest (CBS-TV) takes top honors in its design of bringing the field of basic research into clear, absorbing perspective.

Next Sunday, for example, it will examine scientific advances in the study of the atom, heart surgery and the antarctic regions. Discussing the program recently with Eric Sevareid, the guide of Conquest, it occurred to me that not so long ago I would have been more interested in the antarctic than in the atom. But now my interests lean toward the atom.

I'd like to see one—not a cartoon atom, but an actual one. Conquest will fulfill this desire Sunday when it presents the first motion picture ever made of the world's smallest matter. At least, I believe it's the world's smallest matter.

This making the atom visible is the result of 20 years of labor by

Dr. Erwin Mueller of Pennsylvania State University. "In television," said Sevareid, "the problem of informing an audience is to explain graphically, to dramatize but not overdramatize, not to talk down, but neither to talk over the heads of the audience. I think we're succeeding pretty well on Conquest."

So do I.

It interested me that Sevareid has had the identical formal scientific education to which I was exposed: some math, a course in physics, a course in biology. The rest has been in that area which college catalogues used to call "the arts and social sciences."

Now, at 45, he rather symbolizes a lot of us who are just awakening to our ignorance of vast areas of knowledge. Unlike many of us, he's doing something about it.

Mothers Aid Players

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Five mothers offered to ease a critical shortage faced by the Sunshine Little League baseball team. The mothers volunteered their services as baseball umpires next season.

ANTARCTIC EAVESDROPPER—It's all in the interest of science as Carl Eklund, a biologist with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, throtles an Antarctic penguin to plant a "doctored" egg in the nest. The egg contains a telemeter—a tiny battery-powered radio transmitter, right—which signals temperature within the nest during hatching periods. In his study of Antarctic bird life, Eklund seeks to determine how penguins hatch their eggs in the frigid temperatures. The Atlanta, Ga., biologist is leader of the Wilkes IGY station.

Cost Of Living Rises In W. Va. Last Month

CHARLESTON (AP)—The cost of living rose 3.5 per cent in West Virginia last month while almost all types of private business activity slumped.

The West Virginia Chamber of Commerce announced that only sales of ordinary life insurance, cash farm income and bank deposits totaled higher in January of 1957 than in January of 1956.

Comparative decreases ranged from 30.9 per cent in construction contracts to .02 per cent in retail figures for a year ago.

Coal production slipped 15 per cent from 12,945,000 tons to 11,000,000 tons.

Lumber production showed an almost identical percentage decline in dropping from 29,191,000 board feet to 24,383,000 board feet. But other segments of trade, industry and finance held to within

'Studio One' Stages Comeback With Cooper, McGavin, Granville In Roles

By JACK O'BRIAN
NEW YORK (INS)—Studio One had another good one, its trite tale told with tough, intelligent dialogue and good performances by Jackie Cooper, an increasingly attractive and solid young star; Darren McGavin, who plays a fine rat marauding a Hollywood executive suite; Bonita Granville, also chic and deft as a lady dastard; "The Play," "The Fair Haired Boy," by Herman Raucher, had crisp and tidy dialogue and the ending was resolved happily and reasonably even for a Hollywood fairy tale.

Yipe! Sunday's Hope was Caesar's Brutus: Bob's 33.8 Trendex knitted Sid to a 9.1. "The Big Record" has been fairly well discredited as either big or consistently a framework for recording artists without dragging in stars whose waxes never sold in the first place, so CBS might be smart re-titling that elaborate, ill-conceived shambles merely "The Patti Page Show" when it shifts into Oldsmobile's solo gear shortly.

Danny Thomas' opus last night had bland, empty, assembly-line rapidity that descends on situation comedy at its most clummiest contrived. Hans Conrard managed the next-to-the-impossible—a fine sustained comedy characterization without a laugh in it.

The rock-roll singing styles seem to have built-in stammers and stutters where good singers try to enunciate gracefully. NBC has carefully avoided tracing the real reasons for Sabrina's appearance on the Steve Allen show Sunday, which are her grotesque measurements, blandly describing her as an actress, perhaps implying a Lady Macbeth could be on tap. Arthur Godfrey told TV Guide he twice was invited to run for the U. S. Senate. Who invited him? Ed Sullivan?

One week ago last night Jack Paar had about as dull and miserable a show as could be nightmared, but last night Paar's parade of small talk ignited a fine living-room razzle-dazzle: Dublin's ex-mayor Robert Briscoe, an elder charmboy, set the tall stature at the start, twice there despite some ticklish religious humor; Carl Reiner, of Caesar's TV legions, there to plug his new book, stayed on as a sprightly change of pace; H. V. Kaltenborn arrived with that massive sense of it's-too-late-to-lie irony and some interesting anecdotes; Betty Johnson, to sing nicely, Danny Scholl ditto, Jose Melis to tinkle his square piano prettily; Hugh Downs to intone his easy-going huckstering and Paar's satisfaction at doing so well without Dody was so plain

Movie Fan Scalped

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—He didn't say whether it was a cowboys-and-Indians movie, but 10-year-old John Davidson told police someone grabbed a handful of his hair and cut it off with a pen knife as he sat in a local theater.

Queen City Gains
On Ladies Leader
Queen City, of the Savoy Ladies Bowling League, is only two games off the pace as a result of their two-game victory over pacing Benders.

A pair of shutouts were rolled in the league's other matches,
Crystals blanking Majestics, and Diamonds capturing all three from Savoy.

High scores were rolled by
Harriet Allison, 146-380, Crystals;

Scholarship Tests Slated
A senatorial scholarship examination will be taken by 39 seniors in high schools of Allegany
County Saturday at 10 a. m. at Allegany High School, according to Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools.

Scholarships available include four for boys to Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. Two of them are county scholarships in engineering. The other two are state-wide in engineering. There is one scholarship available for a girl at Hood College in Frederick. The only other senatorial scholarship available this year for this county is to the Maryland Institute of Art in Baltimore. This is for either a boy or girl and may be used for evening or Saturday classes.

The 39 who plan to take the Saturday test represent eight schools. Among them are nine from Allegany High School, one from Beall High School, Frostburg; six from Bruce High School, Westernport; one from Flintstone High School; 10 from Fort Hill High School; three from LaSalle High School; three from
Mt. Savage High School and six from Valley High School in Lonaconing.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, March 5, 1958

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Splendid position of Mars encourages many forms of activity — all worthy interests that spell true progress, forward-looking endeavors, plans, discussions to aid the many.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—If you begin tomorrow's work today you will find it easier going tomorrow. Plans with most days. Tomorrow's time Venus aspect suggests new ways to enhance action and personality.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—This Sign is one of natural vigorous activity, mentally as well as physically. Just be sure you are always on the right track, and using the most honest and honest methods. Shun schemers.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—No room for regrets, misgivings, or feeling sorry in even small measure for yourself or circumstances. We all have things to improve, work at your daily, including today.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—You could get off on the wrong foot if you are not on guard now. And in little ways be careful not to upset smooth routine or other's disposition, which will bother you, too. Discretion!

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Planning a schedule and staying with it can save much time in the long run. You may have to build the incentive within you, since it may be lacking from without just now. Follow careful outline.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Be sagacious in dealing with the opposite sex. You may be tempted to think twice before asserting in matters of pleasure, romance. In other words, a day for wise thoughtfulness.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—Carefully weave in and out this day and take care not to step on anyone's toes. Be wary, thus preventing anxiety and labor. But your aspects are excellent for progressive action.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius)—Under a propitious Jupiter such as today's, there are a number of ways to improve and advance. Some of these are little ones, don't forget, that make the big, successful whole.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—It may be a bit harder to concentrate or feel satisfied now. If you realize what to look for, and truly search for right answers (listen to them), you will be able to go along nicely.

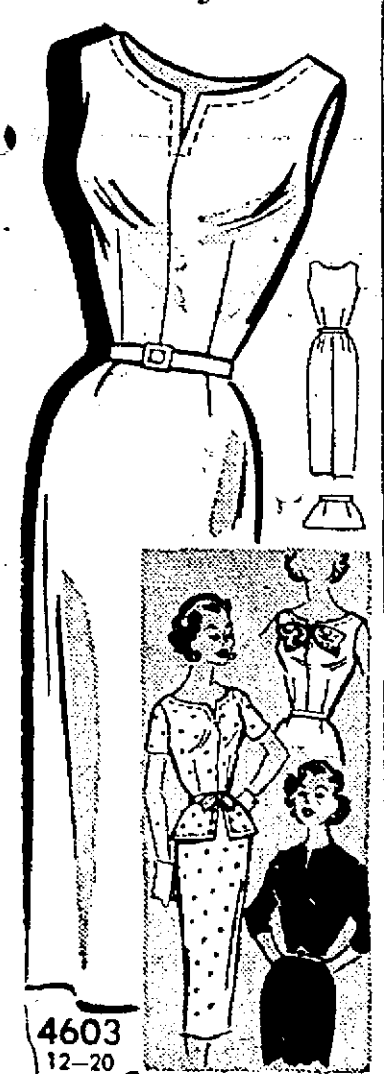

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—Go completely out of your mind. You need not be involved in, and keep your mind free from hampering thoughts or tension. But do put strength into sound, aggressive maneuvering.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—This Sign, when living up to its best, is devoted to good purposes, something the world sorely needs. You can reach farther into matters of exceptional nature, and will advance.

YOU BORN TODAY are sympathetic, confident, innately clean-minded, like orderliness in the home and place of work. May suffer from disorder of others' nature, unless you realize that we all have faults as well as virtues and we must look upon the best in others if we wish to be appraised kindly ourselves; also if we would get along amicably, and thus be able to progress with the better half of the world. Use your artistic side in pastimes or for remuneration; control emotions; laugh off irritation. You work thoroughly; can reproach things not satisfactory. Perfect energy; be eager for opportunity.

Leopold May Soon Leave Illinois Pen

ELGIN, Ill. — (INS) — Nathan Leopold, paroled 1924 "thrill" slayer of Bobby Franks, is expected to leave Stateville Penitentiary in a few days to start a new life at a Puerto Rico Protestant mission hospital.

That report came last night from W. Harold Row, executive secretary of the Brethren Service Commission, an agency of the Church of the Brethren.

He said at Elgin, Ill., headquarters of the group, that there are "favorable indications" the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board will grant Leopold's request to work as an X-ray technician in the mission hospital at Castaner, Puerto Rico.

West opens the king of diamonds. East plays the queen and West puts him in with the jack. East returns the three of hearts and West's king wins the trick. Another heart is played and South is in.

South plays the ace and king of trumps and drops the queen from the West hand. Now all he needs to make his contract is a club finesse but if South is on his toes he will realize that the club finesse is not going to work.

West has already revealed 12 high card points. The queen of clubs would give him 14 points and he surely would have opened the bidding had this been the case.

South sees that he can make the hand if West holds the ten of clubs. Hence, he goes over to dummy and leads the jack of clubs.

Now look at the East and West hands and you see that South has brought his contract home.

If East ducks, South just lets the jack ride. If East covers, South takes with the king and finesses successfully against West's ten.

College Teacher Pay Hike Urged

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Health, education and welfare secretary Marion Folsom called today for increased salaries for America's college professors and instructors.

Folsom made his plea as the Office of Education released a survey which showed the average salary for college faculty members in the United States this year is $6,120.

Terming this "shamefully low" in the light of the crucial importance of higher education, Folsom said:

"College teachers are key members of our society. They train most of the future leaders in all walks of life. They must receive greater rewards if we are to attract and hold those with the best qualifications for teaching the young men and women of this country."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Teacher Plans Appeal From Board Decision

LAKELAND, Ga. — (INS) — An elderly south Georgia school teacher involved in an integration battle that caused her to leave the school, prepared today to appeal a school board decision refusing to reinstate her.

Mrs. A. N. Baskin, 64, who unintentionally created a furor by allowing a white pupil to ride a Negro school bus, was denied the right to teach at her Lanier (Lakeland) County school yesterday.

Admissions Study Set For University

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (U)—The president of the University of Maryland says a proposal to deny admission to students lacking the proper requirements will be studied as part of a campaign to raise academic standards.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins noted yesterday that a substantial number of the 601 students dropped from the university last semester had been admitted on a "trial" basis. He said most of those who entered with adequate records have made good progress.

But he added there was no immediate plan to institute across-the-board entrance examinations.

Dr. Elkins indicated in a speech last Friday that such studies would be made. At that time he said 7 per cent of the university's undergraduates were dismissed at the end of last semester because of academic difficulties.

"Although a highly selective admissions policy would not be in keeping with the nature of this university," he said, "officials should consider seriously any recommendations from the faculty that are based on dependable studies."

A university spokesman said students admitted on a trial basis are those who enter without certification. The university reluctantly admits these students on probation.

New Cell Life Study Helping Fight Cancer

BALTIMORE (U)—A new photographic technique permits scientists to observe many generations of cell life.

One aim of the new procedure is to gain more knowledge about the origin of cell types—a central problem in cancer research.

Dr. Frank H. J. Figge, president of the Maryland division, American Cancer Society, made the announcement yesterday. He said any technique that adds to the knowledge of cell life is a potentially valuable tool in studying cancer.

He said the process, developed by Dr. George O. Gey and Dr. Charles B. Reimer of the Johns Hopkins University school of medicine, permits observing cell cultures for a two-week period.

Twelve cultures are arranged around a disk, like the figures on a clock face. As the disk revolves beneath a motion-picture camera, each image is photographed on a single frame of 35 millimeter film. There is a lapse of five minutes between pictures, so each specimen is photographed once each hour.

Dr. Figge said this is the first time that cell life can be studied over such a long period of time while such minute observations are made.

Each specimen consists of a drop of fluid diluted to the point where very few cells—or only one cell—are present. Because the fluid is not crowded it has enough nutrient to support the cell life for two weeks.

The drop of fluid is placed between glass slides and carbon dioxide and oxygen are fed into the area, which is then sealed.

The Hopkins project was supported by the Humphrey Bogart Memorial Grant of $13,479 which Dr. Gey received last year from the American Cancer Society.

Traffic Safety Program Slated

CHARLESTON (U)—A state traffic safety program for 1958 will be presented at a March 12 meeting here of the Governor's Traffic Safety Advisory Committee.

State Police Supt. Hazen H. Fair, chairman of the committee, noted that a representative of the National Safety Council set forth West Virginia's traffic needs in an annual inventory of traffic safety activities presented at an earlier meeting.

Fair subsequently appointed sub-committees to inquire into the traffic needs and to make recommendations as a result of those studies.

Three Executives Seek Court Reversed

CHARLESTON, S. C. (U)—Three executives of a Baltimore business directory publication have asked the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals to reverse their conviction on mail-fraud charges.

The officials of the Classified Business Directory asked the federal court to free them from prison terms. U.S. Atty. Leon H. A. Pierson asked the court to uphold the convictions, arguing the business directory was a fraud.

Union Local Defendant In Damage Suit

HAGERSTOWN (U)—Golden Commissary Corp. has filed a $10,000 damage suit against UAW Local 842 which represents Golden employees operating the cafeteria at the Fairchild Aircraft plant here.

The Washington, D. C. corporation charged the United Auto Workers local with breach of contract during a two-day strike at the cafeteria Feb. 19 and 20.

Golden said some 30 cafeteria workers failed to report for work after a fellow employee was fired and that the union "conspired to induce Golden employees to breach of contract."

Many aircraft workers lined up in front of vending machines and had candy and soft drinks for their breakfast and lunch the first day of the strike.

The body is at the residence. It will be taken to the church tomorrow at 1 p. m.

Housing Study Scheduled For Hagerstown Area

HAGERSTOWN (U)—A year ago this month a 2-year-old boy died of malnutrition in a rundown shack on the outskirts of Hagerstown.

Washington County legislators introduced a resolution in the General Assembly and Gov. McKeldin appointed a 17-member committee to study substandard housing conditions in the Hagerstown area.

The committee now has drawn up a housing sanitation ordinance fixing responsibilities of owners and occupants and providing fines up to $50 and jail terms up to 30 days for violators.

Night Club Owner Injured

NEW YORK (U)—Night club owner Sherman Billingsley suffered head and shoulder injuries last night when the car he was driving collided with a taxi at a rain-swept Manhattan intersection.

The operator of the famed Stork Club was taken to Bellevue Hospital where his injuries were pronounced "not serious." He was transferred to Roosevelt Hospital early today.

The cab driver, William Watson, and his passenger, David Montalvo, 19, reportedly were unhurt.

Cream puff shells should be filled shortly before serving.
